Girl Says She Shot Cop After He Kidnaped Her

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old west side Columbus girl told police today she killed an off-duty city patrolman after he kidnaped her and forced her to disrobe. Police Chief George W. Scholer reported.

Dead of a single shot from his own .38-caliber service revolver was patrolman James Phillip Morgan, 33, of 1134 Bellflower Ave. Scholer said he was shot, apparently in self defense, by Marla Marchi.

The chief gave this account: Miss Marchi and a 19-year-old boy friend, Robert Hoffman, were parked near a shopping center at about 11 p.m. Sunday night.

A man, believed to be Morgan, approached the youngsters and pointed a revolver at them. The man ordered the youth out of the car and hit him over the head with the gun.

The assailant then put the youth in the trunk and got into the car beside the girl. Miss Marchi said he forced her at gunpoint to disrobe.

The girl told officers as the man drove along Valleyview Road, he placed a gun on the car seat. She said that in the vicinity of the Great Western Shopping Center, she grabbed the gun and shot the abductor in the stomach.

She said she jumped, semi-nude, from the car and ran. Miss Marchi said the abductor sought to chase her but stopped when another motorist drove up. The motorist picked up the girl and drove her home, she told police.

Meanwhile, another motorist drove up, and thinking there had been an accident, stopped near the car in which the Hoffman youth was locked. He heard the youth's yells for help and managed to get the trunk open.

Hoffman then drove to Miss Marchi's house where police were called. Morgan's body was not found until about 8 a.m. lying face down in a pool of blood.

The son of Police Sgt. John Morgan, the dead man was married and father of five children. He had been on the force since 1956.

Patrol Is Ordered To Full Strength

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes directed the Ohio Highway Patrol today to reach full manpower strength as soon as possible, a step he called vital to an effort to reduce traffic deaths.

Authorized current strength is 825 men, plus 90 assigned to Ohio Turnpike duty. Next year authorized strength will be 850 and 90. The patrol is currently about 60 men short of full strength, a spokesman said.

The governor urged young men aged 21 to 30 with high school degrees to look into the patrol a career.

6 Southern States Plead Before Court

Voting Rights Act Being Argued as Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (AP)—South Carolina and five sister Southern states go before the Supreme Court today to challenge the constitutionality of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The six states contend that the act, under which nearly 250,000 Negroes have registered in the seven states of the South, is an unreasonable and unfair use of federal power.

At issue is whether the federal government has the constitutional authority to abolish illiteracy and other voter qualifications tests which had been required by some states.

Arguing alongside South Carolina were to be legal officers from Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and Virginia. North Carolina, also affected by the Voting Rights Act, is not taking part.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, who celebrates his 44th birthday today, was to defend the legality of the five-month-old law in his first Supreme Court argument since he became the government's top legal officer last year.

Lawyers from New Jersey and Massachusetts — the latter representing 18 Northern and Western states — were to support the government.

The high court has allotted eight hours for hearing the case. (Continued on Page 2)

Ohioan Alive, Thanks to Boy's Kidney

DETROIT (AP)—"I know that the kidney could go anytime, tomorrow, or one year or 10 years," said ex-sailor James Fitch.

"But we take a chance every time we get out of the door. It's up to God, not us, if He wants us to live or die. Maybe He wants me to live."

Fitch, 27, left Wayne County General Hospital for his home in Delta, Ohio, Sunday.

He has inside him the kidney of 7-year-old Bradley Van Newkirk, killed in a traffic accident Dec. 20.

The kidney was transplanted to Fitch after the boy's father, Dr. Karl Van Newkirk of Plymouth, consented to use of the vital body organ. At the time, the physician father said it was well if his dead son could help another man live.

Ordinarily, the human body rejects a foreign tissue. But doctors said Fitch, with the help of drugs, is responding to treatment so far. Even with drugs, kidney transplants not often are successful.

Fitch said when he is able to visit Dr. Van Newkirk in Plymouth, he wants to "thank him for my life."

Better Postal Service Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairmen of the Senate and House Post Office Committees predicted today Congress will stamp "approved" on a $15-million administration package which would beef up postal service in thousands of American communities.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., and Rep. Tom Murray, D-Tenn., said in separate interviews they favored moves announced Saturday to restore parcel post and post office window service eliminated in a 1964 economy move.

"This is just the first step" in administration efforts to improve postal service, Monroney said.

Congressional approval is necessary because of the $15-million annual cost of the increased service.

Saturday's announcement said President Johnson has approved a recommendation by Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien that six-day-a-week parcel post service be restored in 6,091 communities with populations over 3,000. Since 1964 one day each week has been skipped for deliveries in these cities except where postmen used motor vehicles to deliver parcels.

The other move will be increased window service at night and on weekends in nearly 15,000 post offices. Postmasters will also be authorized to resume Saturday sales of money orders.

Assistant White House news secretary Joseph Laitin, announcing the plans, said improved efficiency would reduce the postal deficit, estimated at $400 million this fiscal year, despite the $15-million cost of the improved service.

Negro Cabinet Member Is OK'd

Senate Gives Unanimous Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate confirmed today President Johnson's nomination of Robert C. Weaver, New York Negro, to join the Cabinet as secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Confirmation came by voice vote soon after the Banking Committee had voted 14-0 to approve the nomination. Weaver will be the first Negro ever to serve in the Cabinet.

The Senate waived its rules to act so quickly. Ordinarily nominations are supposed to go over one day after being reported from a committee.

Democratic and Republican members vied in praise of Weaver and his record as head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency which forms the nucleus of the new department.

Weaver said, "I am pleased and flattered by the committee's action."

The 1961 hearings ran two days and four members of the committee voted against Weaver with 11 in favor. Today's hearing lasted less than an hour.

The committee also confirmed unanimously the nomination of Prof. Robert C. Wood of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to be undersecretary in the department.

The bill passed by Congress last year setting up the new Cabinet department allotted to it the functions and personnel of the Housing and Home Finance Agency but nothing else.

Several members of Congress said programs in other departments dealing with air pollution, urban highways and education in slum areas should be transferred to the new department.

After he had signed the bill, Johnson set up a task force headed by Wood, chairman of the department of political science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to study the department's organization.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the 73-foot Charles Singleton ran aground off northwest Cuba Sunday and her two sister boats — Penny Singleton and Mark E. Singleton — were directed to a Cuban port by the Cuban Coast Guard.

"We have been in squally weather and blown off course," the fleet manager of the company in Tampa quoted one captain as saying in a radio message.

All three vessels, each carrying a captain and two crewmen, were en route from Tampa to Nicaragua. The boats were built in the last year or so and bought by the Singleton Shrimp Co. in Tampa for $250,000.

The Coast Guard Search and Rescue Center in Miami said it could not take part in any rescue mission because the mishap occurred with Cuban waters.

The State Department in Washington said it had received reports on the incident and was awaiting further information to determine whether to seek their release through the Swiss Embassy in Havana.

5 of 11 U.S. Fliers Saved after Collision

ALMERIA, Spain (AP)—Two U.S. Air Force jet planes with a total of 11 crewmen aboard crashed along the Mediterranean coast today after a collision in the air while refueling.

U.S. Air Force officials said five men had been rescued.

The headquarters of the 16th U.S. Air Force near Madrid said the planes were a B-52 bomber from a base in the United States and a KC135 jet tanker based at Moron Airport, near Sevilla, Spain.

Police Raid Gambling Spot, Then Pair Holds Up Place

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police raided on East Side residence early Saturday and arrested nine persons for gambling—but that was mild compared to what happened at the same house early Sunday.

The wild incident culminated in one policeman shooting another policeman by mistake and with arrest of two brothers for armed robbery.

Officer Wendell K. White Jr., 31, was in fairly good condition afterward in Grant Hospital, recovering from a bullet wound in his upper left arm and chest.

William Walker, 26, and John Walker, 21, of Columbus were in jail after what police said was an attempt to recoup gambling losses.

According to police, the Walkers entered the house about 3 a.m., and about 5 a.m. pulled guns and started robbing some 27 persons in the house. This, mind you, was the day after the gambling raid.

While the lined-up 27 were being forced to yield pocket money, watches and jewelry, two more men walked in. They thought the Walkers were kidding—and were slugged with a gun.

The men in the group of 29 then were forced to strip to their underwear, and herded to an upstairs room where they were forced to strip all the way, while the women were being searched elsewhere.

One man slipped out of the locked room and hurried to the nearby home of officer White, who was off duty. White phoned on-duty police.

Then White hustled to the scene, saw a car parked in front and with gun drawn approached the occupant.

Patrolman Burton J. Kendrick Jr., 36, saw the man, in plain clothes, wielding the gun and drew his own gun. He shouted at White, who evidently not hearing him or not realizing it was a policeman shouting, failed to drop his weapon.

Kendrick fired. White was hit, and the impact forced his own gun to go off, wildly, with no one struck.

The robbers inside heard the shooting, headed for the basement, and crawled out a basement window—into the hands of police.

The Walkers were to be arraigned in Municipal Court today.

Widow, 47, Nephew Face Murder Rap

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Candace Mossler, 47, and Melvin Lane Powers, her 24-year-old nephew, go on trial today in the 1964 slaying of Mrs. Mossler's millionaire husband.

Mrs. Mossler and Powers, son of Mrs. Mossler's sister, Elizabeth Weatherby Powers, are charged with the bludgeoning death of Jacques Mossler, 69, a financier who had extensive banking and loan company interests.

The state charges that Mrs. Mossler and Powers plotted the June 30, 1964, death of Mossler because he had discovered a love affair between the two.

Circuit Court Judge George Schulz, who set aside six weeks for the trial, freed the two on $50,000 bonds each after an early preliminary hearing, during which time the state produced much of the evidence it planned to use in the trial.

Powers was arrested in Houston, Tex., three days after Mossler's body was found in his plush Key Biscayne apartment. Mossler's head had been smashed with a heavy object and the killer had stabbed him 39 times.

When she first heard of Powers' arrest, Mrs. Mossler said: "Oh, pooh. Mel didn't do it." She scoffed at state claims that she and Powers were lovers.

Nigerian Army Smashes Coup

Top Civilian Aides Suspended

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigeria's Army commander emerged as the dominant figure in Africa's most populous nation today following an unsuccessful coup attempt by mutinous elements in the armed forces.

Maj. Gen. Aguiyi Ironsi declared himself temporary head of the federal government and chief of all armed forces Sunday night and suspended key provisions of the Nigerian constitution.

He also suspended the nation's top civilian officials, including Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, President Azikiwe Nnamdi, the heads of Nigeria's four regions and the federal and regional parliaments.

Balewa was kidnaped during the coup attempt with his finance minister, Chief Festus Okotie Ebon. The rebels are believed holding them hostage. Ironsi's troops were reported searching for them.

Nigeria is the fifth African nation to come under military rule in the past two months. Civilian government has been suspended in the Congo, Dahomey, the Central African Republic and Upper Volta.

The revolt began Saturday with an announcement by the rebels over Lagos radio that the military had seized power "to bring an end to gangsterism and disorder, corruption and despotism."

Several hours later, Lagos radio came back on the air with an announcement that an unnamed general had seized the nation briefly. A woman announcer came on every 10 minutes and repeated: "The army, faithful to the government, has the situation well in hand."

Girl Safe, Her Horse Lost in Freak Mishap

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A 10-year-old girl whose saddle horse bolted down a railroad track escaped death when the animal caught its leg between two cross ties on a trestle and hung suspended 25 feet above a creek.

Margaret Bobo said she climbed up the horse's body Sunday and out of danger. She apparently was uninjured.

Police shot the pet horse, named "Star," after halting a freight train 300 yards from the trestle where the animal was hanging.

Birchers Said Schools' No. 1 'Troublemaker'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The public schools have been the target of increased pressure and harassment during the past three years, a commission of the National Education Association reported today.

The NEA's Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities said the John Birch Society was the No. 1 troublemaker. However, the Birch Society also appeared as No. 20 on the list of groups helpful to the schools.

The commission report said there has been an increase in censorship or criticism of books used in the schools since its last survey in 1962.

The report was prepared for the 18th annual conference on "Critics and the Schools," it summarized the response to a questionnaire of nearly 15,000 teachers and other educators.

The survey showed 56 per cent of the local reporting noted a damaging effect from destructive criticism, compared with 49 per cent in 1962. The percentage of schools reporting "much damage" rose from 11 to 16 per cent in the same period.

Ninety per cent of criticism in the form of charges of communism or subversion in the schools, the report said, came from three states — California, Michigan and Ohio.

These three states also reported the greatest activity by right-wing groups in connection with book criticism and censorship, the report said.

78-Hour Quiet Due To Start Thursday Noon

National Lunar Holiday Awaited By Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, today ordered all American troops to cease firing for 78 hours starting at noon Thursday in observance of the Vietnamese lunar New Year holiday, Tet.

Westmoreland's order seconded the decision of the South Vietnamese government to halt fighting during the national celebration. Similar instructions went to South Korean, Australian and New Zealand troops fighting alongside the Vietnamese and Americans.

The truce more than doubles the 30-hour cease-fire observed by Allied forces during the Christmas holiday. But it falls 18 hours short of the Tet truce proclaimed by the Viet Cong. They have promised not to attack from 11 p.m. Wednesday to 11 p.m. Sunday, a total of four days.

Westmoreland ordered a cease-fire from noon Thursday to 6 p.m. Sunday. It was assumed the Allies agreed on different hours to avoid giving the impression they were simply reacting to the Communist proposal.

Westmoreland's order said: "All U.S. forces in the republic will not fire at or on the enemy except in self defense."

There was no sign in the Saigon sector of any letup in fighting before the holiday, although elsewhere in the country military activities continued at a slow pace.

As the suspension of U.S. air attacks on Communist North Viet Nam went into the 25th day, Radio Hanoi charged that American planes strafed and dropped four bombs on a North Vietnamese village in the western part of Thanh Hoa, causing

Once Around Roundtown

YOUNGSTERS who received ice skates for Christmas may finally get a chance to use them, although nothing can be said yet for the many new sleds that were delivered in this area.

The mercury is expected to drop to around 10 degrees tonight with a high in the 20s again tomorrow. Ice may be formed on larger ponds and streams now, but skaters are advised to check the thickness of ice before skating in unfamiliar areas. Several days of near zero weather are needed to freeze a substantial rink on top of deep water.

GOP To Give Version Of 'State of Union'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress gets another "State of the Union" message tonight — this time from the Republicans.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford will deliver their party's answer to President Johnson's message of last week.

Radio and television networks will carry the taped 30-minute Dirksen-Ford reply which has been billed as "a high-level and realistic look at the state of the union."

The two leaders are expected to call for close scrutiny, and perhaps cutbacks, in domestic spending.

A tip-off to the Republican "guns-or-butter" position was given by Ford in the current issue of the Republican congressional committee's weekly newsletter.

"If we are going to halt inflation and prevent tax increases and give our men in Viet Nam what they need to win, and still meet even legitimate domestic needs," Ford said, "Congress is going to have to cut deeply into the administration's so-called Great Society budget."

Here's the outlook for the week on Capitol Hill:

The Senate and House will mark time as far as major floor action is concerned. But committees may take up some controversial measures.

The Senate's legislature docket includes consideration today of a bill to preserve the natural beauty of five Western rivers, followed by a bill to authorize a $9.5-million inter-American cultural and trade center (Inter-ama) in Miami. The river bill has not passed the House. The cultural center measure cleared the House last year but ran into Senate opposition.

There is no business for the House floor this week.

No timetable has been set for delivery of a series of presidential messages spelling out details of proposed legislation outlined in the State of the Union message. Some messages may be sent to Congress this week.

One of the first messages is expected to request an estimated $12 billion or more for emergency financing of the Vietnamese conflict. The House Appropriations Committee will act quickly on the measure, which may be the first major bill to reach the House floor this year.

Arctic Air Mass Falls On Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A huge mass of Arctic air hit the country's midsection today and spread bitter cold temperatures from the Rockies to New England and deep into the South.

The Pacific coast region, southern portions of Texas and Florida and a thin band along the Gulf Coast were about the only areas with temperatures above freezing.

The sharpest chill was in the northern Plains, where it was 27 below zero at Bismarck, N.D., and -19 at Huron, S.D. But the far-ranging cold snap also pushed the mercury down to 6 above zero at Richmond, Va., and 18 at Asheville, N.C.

Meanwhile, from 2 to 9 inches of snow covered much of central and southwest Virginia, with some highways hazardous with ice. Temperatures dropped to below freezing over the entire state.

Upstate New York had temperatures near zero and bitter cold in New England was intensified by strong winds.

Snow and cold air spread into New Mexico with 1 inch of snow reported at Santa Fe and 2 inches at Tucumcari. Tire chains were needed on Raton Pass leading into Colorado and more snow was expected across the center of the state.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Candace Mossler, 47, and Melvin Lane Powers, her 24-year-old nephew, go on trial today in the 1964 slaying of Mrs. Mossler's millionaire husband.

Mrs. Mossler and Powers, son of Mrs. Mossler's sister, Elizabeth Weatherly Powers, are charged with the bludgeoning death of Jacques Mossler, 69, a financier who had extensive banking and loan company interests.

The state charges that Mrs. Mossler and Powers plotted the June 30, 1964, death of Mossler because he had discovered a love affair between the two.

Circuit Court Judge George Schulz, who set aside six weeks for the trial, freed the two on $50,000 bonds each after an early preliminary hearing, during which time the state produced much of the evidence it planned to use in the trial.

Powers was arrested in Houston, Tex., three days after Mossler's body was found in his plush Key Biscayne apartment. Mossler's head had been smashed with a heavy object and the killer had stabbed him 39 times.

When she first heard of Powers' arrest, Mrs. Mossler said: "Oh, pooh. Mel didn't do it." She scoffed at state claims that she and Powers were lovers.

All three vessels, each carrying a captain and two crewmen, were en route from Tampa to Nicaragua. The boats were built in the last year or so and bought by the Singleton Shrimp Co. in Tampa for $250,000.

The Coast Guard Search and Rescue Center in Miami said it could not take part in any rescue mission because the mishap occurred with Cuban waters.

The State Department in Washington said it had received reports on the incident and was awaiting further information to determine whether to seek their release through the Swiss Embassy in Havana.

ALMERIA, Spain (AP)—Two U.S. Air Force jet planes with a total of 11 crewmen aboard crashed along the Mediterranean coast today after a collision in the air while refueling.

U.S. Air Force officials said five men had been rescued.

The headquarters of the 16th U.S. Air Force near Madrid said the planes were a B52 bomber from a base in the United States and a KC135 jet tanker based at Moron Airport, near Sevilla, Spain.

She is over 65, never worked at a job covered by Social Security, and became a widow before Social Security went into effect 30 years ago.

At 100, Mrs. Calvert is the oldest Greenfield resident to sign up for hospital and doctor's fee insurance benefits which go into effect next July under the federal medical aid program.

Daughter of a Civil War veteran, she will be 101 July 7.

Alvis Swanson, manager of the Social Security district office at Chillicothe, said the law provides for the fee to be waived in cases like Mrs. Calvert's.

She is not the oldest to sign in the Chillicothe district. Swanson recently registered a 102-year-old Fayette County woman. He did not identify her.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Steven Dudyshyn, a florist, has been undergoing treatment in White Plains Hospital from Dr. Charles R. Greenhouse, summarized the response to a questionnaire of nearly 15,000 teachers and other educators.

The survey showed 56 per cent of the local reporting noted a damaging effect from destructive criticism, compared with 49 per cent in 1962. The percentage of schools reporting "much damage" rose from 11 to 16 per cent in the same period.

Ninety per cent of criticism in the form of charges of communism or subversion in the schools, the report said, came from three states — California, Michigan and Ohio.

These three states also reported the greatest activity by right-wing groups in connection with book criticism and censorship, the report said.

78-Hour Quiet Due To Start Thursday Noon

National Lunar Holiday Awaited By Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, today ordered all American troops to cease firing for 78 hours starting at noon Thursday in observance of the Vietnamese lunar New Year holiday, Tet.

Westmoreland's order seconded the decision of the South Vietnamese government to halt fighting during the national celebration. Similar instructions went to South Korean, Australian and New Zealand troops fighting alongside the Vietnamese and Americans.

The truce more than doubles the 30-hour cease-fire observed by Allied forces during the Christmas holiday. But it falls 18 hours short of the Tet truce proclaimed by the Viet Cong. They have promised not to attack from 11 p.m. Wednesday to 11 p.m. Sunday, a total of four days.

Westmoreland ordered a cease-fire from noon Thursday to 6 p.m. Sunday. It was assumed the Allies agreed on different hours to avoid giving the impression they were simply reacting to the Communist proposal.

Westmoreland's order said: "All U.S. forces in the republic will not fire at or on the enemy except in self defense."

There was no sign in the Saigon sector of any letup in fighting before the holiday, although elsewhere in the country military activities continued at a slow pace.

As the suspension of U.S. air attacks on Communist North Viet Nam went into the 25th day, Radio Hanoi charged that American planes strafed and dropped four bombs on a North Vietnamese village in the western part of Thanh Hoa, causing MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nine shrimp fishermen from Tampa, Fla., were presumed to be in the custody of the Cuban government today after one of their three boats ran aground in Cuban territorial waters.

The U.S. Coast Guard said the 73-foot Charles Singleton ran aground off northwest Cuba Sunday and her two sister boats — Penny Singleton and Mark E. Singleton — were directed to a Cuban port by the Cuban Coast Guard.

"We have been in squally weather and blown off course," the fleet manager of the company in Tampa quoted one captain as saying in a radio message.

All three vessels, each carrying a captain and two crewmen, were en route from Tampa to Nicaragua. The boats were built in the last year or so and bought by the Singleton Shrimp Co. in Tampa for $250,000.

Once Around Roundtown

YOUNGSTERS who received ice skates for Christmas may finally get a chance to use them, although nothing can be said yet for the many new sleds that were delivered in this area.

The mercury is expected to drop to around 10 degrees tonight with a high in the 30s again tomorrow. Ice may be formed on larger ponds and streams now, but skaters are advised to check the thickness of ice before skating in unfamiliar areas. Several days of near zero weather are needed to freeze a substantial rink on top of deep water.

Birchers Said Schools' No. 1 'Troublemaker'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The public schools have been the target of increased pressure and harassment during the past three years, a commission of the National Education Association reported today.

The NEA's Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities said the John Birch Society was the No. 1 troublemaker. However, the Birch Society also appeared as No. 20 on the list of groups helpful to the schools.

The commission report said there has been an increase in censorship or criticism of books used in the schools since its last survey in 1962.

The report was prepared for the 18th annual conference on "Critics and the Schools," li-between the types of pressure and harassment, the report listed the chief trouble-makers in this order: The John Birch Society, teachers unions (which complete bitterly with the NEA for teacher memberships), citizens' committees, Chambers of Commerce, American Legion, Dan Smoot Reports, and Parent-Teacher Associations.

However, on the list of those groups which had been most helpful, the PTAs were away out in front, followed in order by Chambers of Commerce, American Association of University Women, American Legion, business and professional women's clubs and citizens' committees.

The report said right-wing groups, parents and religious groups led the attack on school books,

"a number of losses in human life, houses and property."

The New York Times, in a dispatch from Washington, quoted reliable sources as saying the Johnson administration is tentatively planning to end its peace overtures to the Communists next week after the Vietnamese New Year, unless there is a favorable response.

The dispatch said a series of "tough and pessimistic public statements" reflect the administration's view that the United States cannot wait much longer for a peace sign from sources as saying no response has come from Hanoi to the peace bids President Johnson's envoys carried to many capitals since the Christmas cease-fire.

The latest pronouncement from North Viet Nam left little room for optimism about the chances of peace talks soon. The North Vietnamese Communist party paper Nhan Dan rejected President Johnson's offer in his State of the Union message last Wednesday to meet with the Communists "at any conference table" and "consider the views of any group."

"How can discussions be held when (the Americans) are obstinately keeping their aggressive and bellicose stand and refusing to give up their so-called 'commitments' with their henchmen in Saigon and to withdraw their aggressive troops," the party organ said.

In other developments:

—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the President's chief emissary on the peace offensive, left Manila for Washington after talks with the new Philippine president, Ferdinand E. Marcos. They reportedly discussed the possibility of dispatching Filipino combat troops to Viet Nam. Rusk and Harriman planned a stopover in Honolulu.

—Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina arrived in Moscow on a multipurpose mission that could have side effects on Viet Nam. Shiina was reported carrying instructions from his government to seek Soviet cooperation in trying to bring Hanoi to the peace table.

A retired U.S. Army lieutenant general and former ambassador to France, James M. Gavin, writes that the American military objectives in Viet Nam were stretching U.S. forces "beyond reason."

Gavin said in a letter to Harper's magazine that "many times as much force" as now employed would be required to shield all of South Viet Nam against the Viet Cong. Yet if the United States applied the necessary force it must expect Red China to enter the war as well as reopen the Korean front, Gavin warned. He urged the United States to end the bombing of North Viet Nam permanently and limit its military operations to holding coastal enclaves.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey indicated some administration dissatisfaction with the report of a bipartisan Senate factfinding team headed by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. Humphrey said in Washington on a CBS interview program "Face the Nation" that the report was "a little bit too pessimistic. I think its conclusion were too gloomy."

Mansfield and his Senate colleagues said the fighting will lead toward "general war on the Asian mainland" if there is no settlement, and they added the chances for a just, negotiated peace were slim.

City Motorist Is Handed $300 Fine in Muny Court

A Circleville man, cited by city police for driving while his license was under revocation, has been handed a $300 fine and sentenced to 90 days in the County Jail by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

In handing down the stiff penalty the judge noted Evans had been convicted of larceny, auto larceny, reckless operation, speeding, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, hit-skip and failure to heed a red light.

He had his license revoked under the traffic point system. All convictions were recorded during the past two years, according to court records.

Cough Syrup Drinkers Are Facing Rap

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Police have cracked a ring of some 20 persons who bought 1-375 bottles of codeine-type cough syrup and drank it because it made them feel "cool."

Five men and three women, all from Sandusky, were arrested Sunday and Sandusky Police Chief Robert Traver said more arrests were coming.

The eight, held in lieu of $10,000 bond each, were charged with violating the law governing sales of exempted drugs. They were scheduled for court arraignment today.

"These people drink the whole bottle at a time," Traver said. "They say the stuff makes them feel 'cool.'"

The cherry-flavored cough syrup, containing the narcotic codeine, was purchased over two years at stores in Sandusky, Huron, Norwalk, Port Clinton, Vermilion and Bellevue.

The cough-syrup is an exempted narcotic but state law forbids purchase within a 48-hour period of more than one 4-ounce bottle of preparations containing codeine. Traver said none of those arrested bought twice at the same drug store within the time limit, but at different stores.

directly in the Supreme Court instead of going through the lower federal courts. Arguments are expected to continue at least through Tuesday.

David W. Robinson II, special counsel for South Carolina, was expected to contend that the Voting Rights Act is not an appropriate means of enforcing the 15th Amendment which bars discrimination against voters and gives Congress the power to enact appropriate enforcement legislation.

The six states also contend that the act makes a finding of past discrimination with no judicial proceedings and that its application by a mathematical formula to a handful of states—Alaska, Arizona and the seven in the South—invades their states apart from other states.

In order to escape from jurisdiction of the act, under which federal voter registrars can be dispatched to counties where half the eligible voters are not registered or did not vote last year, a state must prove to a federal court that it does not discriminate.

Katzenbach is expected to contend that state laws setting voter qualifications must bow to the federal statute's implementation of the 15th Amendment.

The attorney general will also contend that the low voter turnout in the affected states is sufficient evidence of discrimination to warrant federal action abolishing literacy tests, and, if necessary, sending federal examiners to take over the registration job.

Hodges rose from the ranks to command the U. S. 1st Army which liberated Paris in a victorious drive through France and German in World War II.

The four-star general died Sunday at Brooke Army Medical Center of a heart attack. He was 79. He had lived here since his retirement in 1949.

His Army career spanned more than 43 years, including action during the Mexican expedition during Gen. John J. Pershing, World War I, World War II, and postwar service as commanding general of the 1st Army area at Governor's Island, N.Y.

Hodges took command of the 1st Army Aug. 1, 1944, from Gen. Omar N. Bradley. The 1st Army was the first to reach Paris, and the first to enter Germany in World War II Sept. 11, 1944, after liberating Liege, Belgium, Sept. 2. "a number of losses in human life, houses and property."

The New York Times, in a dispatch from Washington, quoted reliable sources as saying the Johnson administration is tentatively planning to end its peace overtures to the Communists next week after the Vietnamese New Year, unless there is a favorable response.

The dispatch said a series of "tough and pessimistic public statements" reflect the administration's view that the United States cannot wait much longer for a peace sign from sources as saying no response has come from Hanoi to the peace bids President Johnson's envoys carried to many capitals since the Christmas cease-fire.

The latest pronouncement from North Viet Nam left little room for optimism about the chances of peace talks soon. The North Vietnamese Communist party paper Nhan Dan rejected President Johnson's offer in his State of the Union message last Wednesday to meet with the Communists "at any conference table" and "consider the views of any group."

"How can discussions be held when the Americans are obstinately keeping their aggressive and bellicose stand and refusing to give up their so-called 'commitments' with their henchmen in Saigon and to withdraw their aggressive troops," the party organ said.

In other developments: U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the President's chief emissary on the peace offensive, left Manila for Washington after talks with the new Philippine president, Ferdinand E. Marcos. They reportedly discussed the possibility of dispatching Filipino combat troops to Viet Nam. Rusk and Harriman planned a stopover in Honolulu.

Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shima arrived in Moscow on a multipurpose mission that could have side effects on Viet Nam. Shima was reported carrying instructions from his government to seek Soviet cooperation in trying to bring Hanoi to the peace table.

A retired U.S. Army lieutenant general and former ambassador to France, James M. Gavin, writes that the American military objectives in Viet Nam were stretching U.S. forces "beyond reason."

Gavin said in a letter to Harper's magazine that "many times as much force" as now employed would be required to shield all of South Viet Nam against the Viet Cong. Yet if the United States applied the necessary force it must expect Red China to enter the war as well as reopen the Korean front.

Gavin warned. He urged the United States to end the bombing of North Viet Nam permanently and limit its military operations to holding coastal enclaves.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey indicated some administration dissatisfaction with the report of a bipartisan Senate factfinding team headed by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. Humphrey said in Washington on a CBS interview program "Face the Nation" that the report was "a little bit too pessimistic. I think its conclusion were too gloomy."

Mansfield and his Senate colleagues said the fighting will lead toward "general war on the Asian mainland" if there is no settlement, and they added the chances for a just, negotiated peace were slim.

Cough Syrup Drinkers Are Facing Rap

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Police have cracked a ring of some 20 persons who bought 1-375 bottles of codeine-type cough syrup and drank it because it made them feel "cool."

Five men and three women, all from Sandusky, were arrested Sunday and Sandusky Police Chief Robert Traver said more arrests were coming.

The eight, held in lieu of $10,000 bond each, were charged with violating the law governing sales of exempted drugs. They were scheduled for court arraignment today.

"These people drink the whole bottle at a time," Traver said. "They say the stuff makes them feel 'cool.'"

The cherry-flavored cough syrup, containing the narcotic codeine, was purchased over two years at stores in Sandusky, Huron, Norwalk, Port Clinton, Vermilion and Bellevue.

The cough-syrup is an exempted narcotic but state law forbids purchase within a 48-hour period of more than one 4-ounce bottle of preparations containing codeine. Traver said none of those arrested bought twice at the same drug store within the time limit, but at different stores.

directly in the Supreme Court instead of going through the lower federal courts. Arguments are expected to continue at least through Tuesday.

David W. Robinson II, special counsel for South Carolina, was expected to contend that the Voting Rights Act is not an appropriate means of enforcing the 15th Amendment which bars discrimination against voters and gives Congress the power to enact appropriate enforcement legislation.

The six states also contend that the act makes a finding of past discrimination with no judicial proceedings and that its application by a mathematical formula to a handful of states — Alaska, Arizona and the seven in the South — invidiously sets them apart from other states.

In order to escape from jurisdiction of the act, under which federal voter registrars can be dispatched to counties where half the eligible voters are not registered or did not vote last year, a state must prove to a federal court that it does not discriminate.

Katzenbach is expected to contend that state laws setting voter qualifications must bow to the federal statute's implementation of the 15th Amendment.

The attorney general will also contend that the low voter turnout in the affected states is sufficient evidence of discrimination to warrant federal action abolishing literacy tests, and, if necessary, sending federal examiners to take over the registration job.

Gen. Hodges Is Dead at Age of 79

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gen. Courtney H. Hodges understood GI problems because he had been a GI himself.

"I love the American soldier — I really feel a very strong sentiment about him," Hodges once said. "He is my work. And I don't think he has any equal."

Hodges rose from the ranks to command the U.S. 1st Army which liberated Paris in a victorious drive through France and German in World War II.

The four-star general died Sunday at Brooke Army Medical Center of a heart attack. He was 79. He had lived here since his retirement in 1949.

His Army career spanned more than 43 years, including action during the Mexican expedition of Gen. John J. Pershing, World War I, World War II, and postwar service as commanding general of the 1st Army area at Governor's Island, N.Y.

Hodges took command of the 1st Army Aug. 1, 1944, from Gen. Omar N. Bradley. The 1st Army was the first to reach Paris, and the first to enter Germany in World War II Sept. 11, 1944, after liberating Liege, Belgium, Sept. 2. It was the first to cross the Rhine and the first to make contact with elements of the Soviet army in Germany.

Impact of War Becomes Clearer

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The impact of the Viet Nam war on the U.S. economy became clearer during the week.

President Johnson, in his State of the Union message to Congress, announced a record $112.8-billion budget for fiscal 1967, proposed a restoration of excise taxes on automobiles and telephone calls and a speedup of income tax collections.

The budget would provide $58.3 billion for defense spending, with a big part going for the Viet Nam war.

The President, pledging that the United States will remain in Viet Nam until Communist aggression ceases, asked Congress to reimpose the full 10 percent tax on telephone service, which went down to 3 percent on Jan. 1, and put the tax on new cars at 7 percent, repealing the one-point reduction that went into effect Jan. 1, but not repealing the three-point cut that went into effect last summer.

It was estimated that restoration of these levies would add $1 billion to government revenues in the next year.

General Motors Corp. and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. expressed opposition to return of the taxes.

The suggested speedup in collecting corporate and individual income taxes would add $3.3 billion to government receipts in the fiscal year beginning next Jan. 1.

The crippling New York City subway and bus strike was settled after 12 days of chaos. It was estimated that the transportation shutdown cost the city's businesses $500 million to $800 million.

Effects of the strike were beginning to be felt across the country. Shipments of goods from and into New York were disrupted. Garment manufacturers were especially hard hit, being unable to fill orders for spring and summer clothing.

The economic outlook was bolstered by corporate announcements of plans for huge investments in new plants and equipment. Recently announced speeding programs for this year included American Telephone & Telegraph Co., $3.9 billion; International Paper Co., $325 million; Eastman Kodak Co., $171 million; H. J. Heinz Co., $30 million, and Radio Corp. of America, $195 million.

The Commerce Department reported that the economy boomed in the final three months of 1965 with the gross national product — total of all goods and services — reaching an annual rate of $694.5 billion. This was 2 per cent higher than in the third quarter. For 1965 as a whole, the GNP totaled $875.6 billion.

Johnson said in his State of the Union message that the GNP should climb to $720 billion or more this year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the first frenzy over long-haired singing groups is on the wane, CBS' Ed Sullivan Show is, in dire need of something fresh and stimulating to brighten up that Sunday night corner of television.

Sullivan's tried-and-true format calls for a bill consisting of many acts, each one on stage a short time. Nowadays it often seems less a feat of talent than a series of appetizers. Sunday night, Sullivan's 43 minutes of air time, not counting the commercials, was jammed with nine acts plus a longish on-stage introduction of a pro football star.

Some of the performers were scarcely warmed up before they were hustled off.

The show's big production number came from the Broadway show, "Funny Girl", plus a number by its new star, Mimi Hines. This was fun, but Miss Hines who sings well, did the number incongruously clad in the uniform of a World War I soldier.

NBC's "Frank McGee Reports," which has evolved from last season's awkwardly titled "Sunday" show, comes at 6 p. m. EST and is a most pleasant half-hour as it takes a leisurely look at two or three matters of public interest — not necessarily the top headlines of the week.

In Sunday's show there was a short film story about three captured North Vietnamese. This was followed by a much longer treatment of the air pollution problems of the nation, focused particularly on a town harassed by foul odors from an animal-food factory. Finally there was Edwin Newman, NBC's lively and intelligent New York critic-at-large, presenting an amusing description of the joys and problems of a Broadway "first night." It is a very nice half-hour.

This was followed by another

happy Telephone Hour with Donald O'Connor and Anthony Newley sharing the host chores. Newley had most of the singing to do, and O'Connor, of course, did a lot of dancing. It was a tuneful, light-footed show with a bit of everything from tap dancing to early American musical comedy.

CBS will chop its "Hollywood Talent Scouts" in half tonight so that it can broadcast Republican reaction to President Johnson's State of the Union speech. Spokesmen will be the Senate and House minority leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford. NBC will broadcast the program at 11:30-12 p. m., pre-empting a portion of the "Tonight Show."

Lodge Team Places Third At Lancaster

Circleville BPO Elks Lodge's ritual team ranked third in contests held in Lancaster during the weekend.

Competing in the 14-lodge South Central District, the Circleville team was led by Marshall Winner, exalted ruler.

Jackson Lodge placed first, edging Chillicothe which had been district champion the last two years. Jackson will now represent the district in the state contest scheduled for late spring.

Athens Lodge placed fourth and the host Lancaster team was ranked fifth in final judging.

On Winner's team were Gene Lindsey, Robert Huffer, Chester McKenzie, Wendell Emerine, Jack Weikert and John Dougherty.

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the first frenzy over long-haired singing groups is on the wane, CBS' Ed Sullivan Show is, in dire need of something fresh and stimulating to brighten up that Sunday night corner of television.

Sullivan's tried-and-true format calls for a bill consisting of many acts, each one on stage a short time. Nowadays it often seems less a feat of talent than a series of appetizers. Sunday night, Sullivan's 43 minutes of air time, not counting the commercials, was jammed with nine acts plus a longish on-stage introduction of a pro football star.

Some of the performers were scarcely warmed up before they were hustled off.

The show's big production number came from the Broadway show, "Funny Girl", plus a number by its new star, Mimi Hines. This was fun, but Miss Hines who sings well, did the number inconspicuously clad in the uniform of a World War I soldier.

NBC's "Frank McGee Reports," which has evolved from last season's awkwardly titled "Sunday" show, comes at 6 p.m. EST and is a most pleasant half-hour as it takes a leisurely look at two or three matters of public interest — not necessarily the top headlines of the week.

In Sunday's show there was a short film story about three captured North Vietnamese. This was followed by a much longer treatment of the air pollution problems of the nation, focused particularly on a town harassed by foul odors from an animal-food factory. Finally there was Edwin Newman, NBC's lively and intelligent New York critic-at-large, presenting an amusing description of the joys and problems of a Broadway "first night." It is a very nice half-hour.

This was followed by another

happy Telephone Hour with Donald O'Connor and Anthony Newley sharing the host chores. Newley had most of the singing to do, and O'Connor, of course, did a lot of dancing. It was a tuneful, light-footed show with a bit of everything from tap dancing to early American musical comedy.

CBS will chop its "Hollywood Talent Scouts" in half tonight so that it can broadcast Republican reaction to President Johnson's State of the Union speech. Spokesmen will be the Senate and House minority leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford. NBC will broadcast the program at 11:30-12 p.m., pre-empting a portion of the "Tonight Show."

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1966. There are 348 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1706, Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston. Before his 84-year life ended, Franklin became famous as an author, printer, scientist, philosopher, diplomat and revolutionary war leader — perhaps the "first citizen of the world" America had produced.

On this date

In 1821, a Mexican land grant to Moses Austin opened Texas to colonization by pioneers north of the Rio Grande.

In 1893, the 19th president, Rutherford B. Hayes, died.

In 1917, the United States purchased the Virgin Islands from Denmark.

In 1942, advancing Japanese forces were 90 miles from Singapore.

In 1944, the Republic of Colombia signed the Declaration of the United Nations.

In 1946, Tokyo announced Japanese school children would be taught the reasons for their nation's defeat from material prepared by Americans.

Ten years ago—Communists led the start of six days of rioting in Bombay and Calcutta, India, in protest against the revision of the Bihar and Orissa boundaries.

Five years ago—Deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba was transferred to what was called a safer prison in Jadotville from the one he had been in Tysville, Katanga Province.

One year ago—Fifteen men indicted in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Mississippi were released under bond after pleading innocent.

19 C&O Freight Cars Derail near Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—A spokesman for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad blames a broken journal box or axle for the derailment of 19 freight cars near here over the weekend.

The spokesman said damage from the derailment Saturday night would be "considerable." The 40-car train, carrying auto parts, was wrecked three miles north of Harrison Pike.

NEW YORK (AP) —Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The U.S. farmer is one of the world's most efficient manufacturers. He now grows enough food each year to feed 31 people, five of whom live in impoverished foreign countries and are fed practically free on Uncle Sam's bounty.

Your body is a busy factory. It has some 30 trillion red blood cells, each of which lives about four months. Your bone marrow has to produce 10 billion of them every hour to keep you healthy.

Musculologists say more songs probably have been written about Franklin D. Roosevelt than about any other man in modern times. There are more than 100 listed.

Creepers: Some safety experts rate highway slowpokes as more dangerous than speeders and perhaps even than drinking drivers. They say that cars traveling at 20 miles below average highway speed are involved in twice as many accidents as those going 20 miles faster than average speed.

Tiny but still mighty: Britain's 52,710,000 people make up less than two per cent of the world's inhabitants and occupy only about a fifth of one per cent of earth's land area. But they produce one sixth of the world's exports and handle 10 per cent of its international shipping.

The U.S. Air Force reportedly is developing a machine that can learn from its own mistakes. If it succeeds, this probably will be the machine's final victory over man.

The teabag is an historical accident. In 1904, a New York merchant bagged small samples of his tea and sent them to prospective customers. They soon found tea could be conveniently brewed by simply dunking the bags in boiling water—and a new industry was born.

Worth remembering: "The reason a dollar won't do as much for people as it once did is that people won't do as much for a dollar as they once did."

LAFF-A-DAY

© King Features Syndicate, Inc., 1966. World rights reserved.

It's an election year. It's also a year in which organized labor is flopping in its public relations. Putting the two items together, what chances does the AFL-CIO have in 1966 to pressure the U. S. Senate to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act's Section 14 (b) which currently lets the separate states vote yes or no on the subject of compulsory unionism?

If there had ever been any chance for repeal, it is ten to one that New York City's transit worker boss, Mike Quill, has killed it. You can't condemn eight million people to the inconvenience of slogging to work or to the downtown shops with out giving the union movement you speak for a pretty black eye. It's not only New Yorkers that Mike Quill has inconvenienced, it's hundreds of out-of-towners who, in the first days of January, simply put off scheduled trips to the Big City.

Old Henry David Thoreau said that most men live lives of quiet desperation. Taking this as a reasonable approximation of a vital truth, one of the quickest ways to make an enemy of a man is to add a maximum inconvenience to what seems hard enough to bear under any circumstances. A strike in the factories of Detroit might cause some universal grumbling, but there is little inconvenience in postponing the purchase of a new car if the old bus is still running. You can't, however, postpone the use of your feet when the subway isn't running and the boss insists on your daily presence.

Somehow, by a strange series of coincidences, all the recent strikes have been tops in annoyance value for large numbers of people. There have been the cab strikes in New York and Chicago, nothing very serious but still enough to make the air blue with uncomplimentary language when a man is caught in the rain while trying to get across town. There was a truck strike in Philadelphia, which had the misfortune of being identified with the devil-shape of Jimmy Hoffa. There was a newspaper strike in New York, a fretful thing for people whose tastes in reading are set. Then there was the strike at Olin Mathison in Alton, Illinois, which happened to close down the one plant in the United States that was capable of producing a much-needed powder for use in the Vietnam War. Patriots everywhere resented this, even some patriots who belong to the union movement.

It may not be particularly noble to balance a personal inconvenience against a working man's desire for something better than the $138.80 (plus overtime) a week he has been getting for running a subway train. But that's the way people are. They can be objective when it comes to supporting the demand of a steelworker for more money just so long as the steelworker is merely creating a shortage of readily postponable items. But who can be objective when one's feet are aching on the last long mile across Brooklyn Bridge?

What the union leaders have not reckoned with is that America, even working class America, is a ninety per cent-middle class country so far as its values are concerned. And the biggest value of the middle class is comfort.

So what is the reaction going to be this winter when a filibustering Senator tells his colleagues that repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act's 14 (b) will automatically pour an additional $25 million into the coffers of union bosses who don't care a fig for your convenience or mine? Repeal of 14(b) would automatically force some 250,000 unwilling people to join big national unions in the nineteen states that now have right-to-work laws. These people would have to fork up some $10 million in union initiation fees and $15 million more in dues for the first year. The money would go to finance a lot of things that could end in further inconvenience for bus riders or newspaper readers.

Noble or not, a middle class country will be telling its Congressmen in this election year of 1966 that they have been inconvenienced enough. The chances for a repeal of 14(b) are slim. Ironically, the truly noble principle of voluntary choice will have been saved by what could be called a petty preoccupation with comfort.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Fee, Route 3, planned to observe their silver wedding anniversary with open house.

Juvenile delinquency hit an all-time high in Pickaway County during 1960, according to a report from the County Juvenile Court with a total of 282 cases handled by the court last year.

Dr. E. L. Montgomery was speaker at the Circleville Lions Club dinner meeting.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was announced that the old covered bridge just southeast of Ashville would be closed for a few days for emergency repairs on the floor.

More than 100 members attended the meeting of the Mt. Pleasant Grange held in Wayne Twp. School.

Barbara Chapin was selected to reign as Scioto Twp. High School homecoming queen at the Scioto - Pickaway basketball game.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Donald Courtwright of Ashville was reelected president of the Pickaway County Farmer and Sportsmen Assn. at a meeting held in the Elks' Home.

Circleville and Pickaway County schools were offered NYA aid for landscaping or leveling school grounds, rebuilding sidewalks or painting the exteriors of buildings.

Fifty members of the Lutheran Brotherhood were entertained by the Luther League, headed by president Ned Dresbach.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners and area industrialists took a step in the right direction January 10 when they met to review the need for an adequate airport in this area.

High ranking state officials have pointed out time after time that adequate air facilities are one of the most important requirements when considering an area for a plant site.

Norman Crabtree, chief of the Division of Aviation, indicated over a week ago that Pickaway County was among the areas turned down by two industries because of this lack of an adequate airport.

Most large corporations own twin engine aircraft which require a hard-surface runway. For that reason, none of the local privately owned strips are suitable since they have sod runways. Most insurance companies prohibit larger aircraft from landing on sod runways.

A frequently heard statement in opposition to the airport is "it will just turn out to be a plaything for local aviation enthusiasts." This is not true. Most local aircraft already are located at privately owned landing strips and owners probably would continue to use them.

The Commissioners and the County Action Committee are to be commended for their efforts to make this area more attractive to industry.

This is our golden opportunity while state and federal funds are available.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What is the cause of persistent back aches and how can they be cured?

"Back ache" is a vague term for almost every kind of pain from the neck down to the bottom of the spine. Back ache can be caused by injury to the muscles of the back, pressure on nerves, curvatures of the spine, slipped disks and congenital disorders of the hip joint. Sacroiliac dislocation may cause backache and pain which shoots down the back of the leg.

Since there are so many causes for backache, the only proper way to treat it is to study the bones of the pelvis and the spine and find the exact reason for the discomfort.

The exact diagnosis indicates the exact treatment. The use of massage and manipulation without a definitive diagnosis can be dangerous.

Does the name pernicious anemia mean a more severe kind of anemia?

The word pernicious means highly injurious or destructive in character. When it applies to anemia it has a special meaning unrelated to its ordinary usage.

In pernicious anemia there is a deficiency and change of the red blood cells, accompanied by a group of symptoms like weakness, soreness of the tongue, headache and intestinal disturbances. These symptoms, however, must not be used for self-diagnosis, because they resemble symptoms of so many other conditions.

The deficiency of Vitamin B 12 that characterizes pernicious anemia is the result of a disturbance of the blood elements. This type of anemia is no longer considered as great a threat to life as it was formerly. Although the condition cannot be cured, it can be kept in complete control by special diet and regular injections of Vitamin B 12.

What causes motion sickness and how can it be cured?

Deep in the inner ear there are three tiny canals, the semi-circular canals, which act as stabilizers for the balance of the body. Through these canals a

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The U.S. farmer is one of the world's most efficient manufacturers. He now grows enough food each year to feed 81 people, five of whom live in impoverished foreign countries and are fed practically free on Uncle Sam's bounty.

Your body is a busy factory. It has some 30 trillion red blood cells, each of which lives about four months. Your bone marrow has to produce 10 billion of them every hour to keep you healthy.

Musicians say more songs probably have been written about Franklin D. Roosevelt than any other man in modern times. There are more than 100 Creepers: Some safety experts rate highway slowpokes as more dangerous than speeders and perhaps even than drinking drivers. They say that cars traveling at 20 miles below average highway speed are involved in twice as many accidents as those going 20 miles faster than average speed.

Tiny but still mighty: Britain's 52,710,000 people make up less than two per cent of the world's inhabitants and occupy only about a fifth of one per cent of earth's land area. But they produce one sixth of the world's exports and handle 10 per cent of its international shipping.

The U.S. Air Force reportedly is developing a machine that can learn from its own mistakes. If it succeeds, this probably will be the machine's final victory over man.

The teabag is an historical accident. In 1904, a New York merchant bagged small samples of his tea and sent them to prospective customers. They soon found tea could be conveniently brewed by simply dunking the bags in boiling water—and a new industry was born.

Worth remembering: "The reason a dollar won't do as much for people as it once did is that people won't do as much for a dollar as they once did."

By BENNETT CERF

CALL UP BY HIS draft board, a city lad was asked his occupation. "I'm a comedian," he declared. "That so?" mocked his examiner. "Let's see you do something funny."

So the city lad turned to the long line of men waiting their turns behind him and called out, "You can go home, fellows. I got the job!"

Colonel Francis Duffy observes that the people who sound off the loudest and most often about capital and labor never had any capital and never did any labor. The Colonel also tells about a neighbor who is seeking a plump little bride who giggles all the time. He believes in a short wife and a merry one.

Sign at a railroad crossing near Sandusky: "The average time it takes a train to cross this intersection is twenty seconds—whether your car is on it or not."

OVERHEARD . . .

Disgraced night club entertainer to an obnoxious ringside heckler: "You're real class all right: steerage."

Lady tired of waiting for a table in a crowded restaurant to her henpecked husband: "How long are you going to let that head waiter ignore us? Are you a man or a mouse? SQUEAK UP!"

Sammy Davis Jr., explaining why traffic moves at such a snail's pace in mid-town Manhattan: "The only private cars going fast are ones that were just stolen."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What is the cause of persistent back aches and how can they be cured?

"Back ache" is a vague term for almost every kind of pain from the neck down to the bottom of the spine. Back ache can be caused by injury to the muscles of the back, pressure on nerves, curvatures of the spine, slipped disks and congenital disorders of the hip joint. Sacroiliac dislocation may cause backache and pain which shoots down the back of the leg.

Since there are so many causes for backache, the only proper way to treat it is to study the bones of the pelvis and the spine and find the exact reason for the discomfort.

The exact diagnosis indicates the exact treatment. The use of massage and manipulation without a definitive diagnosis can be dangerous.

Does the name pernicious anemia mean a more severe kind of anemia?

The word pernicious means highly injurious or destructive in character. When it applies to anemia it has a special meaning unrelated to its ordinary usage.

In pernicious anemia there is a deficiency and change of the red blood cells, accompanied by a group of symptoms like weakness, soreness of the tongue, headache and intestinal disturbances. These symptoms, however, must not be used for self-diagnosis, because they resemble symptoms of so many other conditions.

The deficiency of Vitamin B<sub>12</sub> that characterizes pernicious anemia is the result of a disturbance of the blood elements. This type of anemia is no longer considered as great a threat to life as it was formerly. Although the condition cannot be cured, it can be kept in complete control by special diet and regular injections of Vitamin B<sub>12</sub>.

What causes motion sickness and how can it be cured?

Deep in the inner ear there are three tiny canals, the semi-circular canals, which act as stabilizers for the balance of the body. Through these canals a

It's an election year. It's also a year in which organized labor is flopping in its public relations. Putting the two items together, what chances does the AFL-CIO have in 1966 to pressure the U. S. Senate to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act's Section 14 (b) which currently lets the separate states vote yes or no on the subject of compulsory unionism?

If there had ever been any chance for repeal, it is ten to one that New York City's transit worker boss, Mike Quill, has killed it. You can't condemn eight million people to the inconvenience of slogging to work or to the downtown shops with out giving the union movement you speak for a pretty black eye. It's not only New Yorkers that Mike Quill has inconvenienced, it's hundreds of out-of-towners who, in the first days of January, simply put off scheduled trips to the Big City.

Old Henry David Thoreau said that most men live lives of quiet desperation. Taking this as a reasonable approximation of a vital truth, one of the quickest ways to make an enemy of a man is to add a maximum inconvenience to what seems hard enough to bear under any circumstances. A strike in the factories of Detroit might cause some universal grumbling, but there is little inconvenience in postponing the purchase of a new car if the old bus is still running. You can't, however, postpone the use of your feet when the subway isn't running and the boss insists on your daily presence.

Somehow, by a strange series of coincidences, all the recent strikes have been tops in annoyance value for large numbers of people. There have been the cab strikes in New York and Chicago, nothing very serious but still enough to make the air blue with uncomplimentary language when a man is caught in the rain while trying to get across town. There was a truck strike in Philadelphia, which had the misfortune of being identified with the devil-shape of Jimmy Hoffa. There was a newspaper strike in New York, a fretful thing for people whose tastes in reading are set. Then there was the strike at Olin-Mathison in Alton, Illinois, which happened to close down the one plant in the United States that was capable of producing a much-needed powder for use in the Vietnam War. Patriots everywhere resented this, even some patriots who belong to the union movement.

It may not be particularly noble to balance a personal inconvenience against a working man's desire for something better than the $138.80 (plus overtime) a week he has been getting for running a subway train. But that's the way people are. They can be objective when it comes to supporting the demand of a steelworker for more money just so long as the steelworker is merely creating a shortage of readily postponable items. But who can be objective when one's feet are aching on the last long mile across Brooklyn Bridge?

What the union leaders have not reckoned with is that America, even working class America, is a ninety per cent-middle class country so far as its values are concerned. And the biggest value of the middle class is comfort.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners and area industrialists took a step in the right direction January 10 when they met to review the need for an adequate airport in this area.

High ranking state officials have pointed out time after time that adequate air facilities are one of the most important requirements when considering an area for a plant site.

Norman Crabtree, chief of the Division of Aviation, indicated over a week ago that Pickaway County was among the areas turned down by two industries because of this lack of an adequate airport.

Most large corporations own twin engine aircraft which require a hard-surface runway. For that reason, none of the local privately owned strips are suitable since they have sod runways. Most insurance companies prohibit larger aircraft from landing on sod runways.

A frequently heard statement in opposition to the airport is "it will just turn out to be a plaything for local aviation enthusiasts." This is not true. Most local aircraft already are located at privately owned landing strips and owners probably would continue to use them.

The Commissioners and the County Action Committee are to be commended for their efforts to make this area more attractive to industry.

This is our golden opportunity while state and federal funds are available.

Soviet Both Succeeds, Fails In Asian Fuss

India, Pakistan Sign Accord, but Problem Remains

MOSCOW (AP) — The Tashkent Declaration is seen as a diplomatic achievement for the Soviet Union. It failed, however, to solve the basic problems which touched off the Indian-Pakistani conflict.

The declaration by President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan and the late Lal Bahadur Shastri, prime minister of India, was a commitment to clean up the aftermath of their 22-day September war.

After the death in Tashkent of Shastri, the caretaker Prime Minister ulzari Lal Nanda, said he would carry out the Tashkent promises.

Arranging them was a major accomplishment for the host in Tashkent, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

On his first effort at Asian peacemaking, Kosygin succeeded where countries like Britain and United States were unable to because of past involvements.

But Kosygin had no more success than the West in solving the root causes of the Indian-Pakistani conflict. There lies the failure, which probably was not unexpected by the Russians.

The unprecedented Soviet initiative to try to bring peace between two non-Communist nations appeared from here to have been mainly motivated by a desire to contain Red China.

The hostility between India and Pakistan, primarily over control of Kashmir State, had given the Red Chinese opportunity.

Peking has a running dispute with India over Himalayan borderlands. Pakistan has been embroiled with India over Kashmir. This gave China and Pakistan an affinity of interests.

Indians say the association has developed to the extent of Chinese weapons for Pakistan since Western supplies were cut off.

In the open rivalry between Moscow and Peking for influence, such a Chinese opportunity in Pakistan was naturally repugnant to the Russians.

One Soviet way to counter it would have been trying to favor Pakistan more. The Kremlin moved a little way in that direction, but was hampered by its influence in India.

The effort in India, which has had some notable success, was incompatible with the kind of policy China is following in Pakistan.

So the only alternative was to try for peace between India and Pakistan in order to reduce Pakistani inclinations to look to Peking as a natural ally against India.

The Tashkent Declaration consolidated the cease-fire the United Nations had arranged in the undeclared September war. It did nothing to end the Kashmir dispute.

So long as this problem remains, Indian-Pakistani relations will be poisoned.

The Tashkent promise to abjure the use of force in no way decreased the possibility of an eventual renewal of conflict over Kashmir. There had been such promises before September.

Therefore, Pakistan continues to have a natural interest in an alliance with Red China —unwritten as at present. Perhaps some day it will take more specific form.

This means a situation the Kremlin deems undesirable has not been eliminated by the Tashkent Declaration.

The World Today

By WALTER R. MEARS
(For James Marlow)
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has renewed a call for political fund-raising reforms urged upon Congress four years ago by President John F. Kennedy.

The subject is one Johnson

had not pressed since moving to the White House. After two years of silence on the matter, he welded the reform proposals into his State of the Union message.

"As the process of election becomes more complex and costly," he said, "we must make it possible for those without personal wealth to enter public life without being obligated to a few large contributors."

To do that, Johnson proposed a tax break for people who make political contributions.

Given today's fund-raising pattern, a tax break for the small donor could be a boon to Republicans. The GOP reports increasing success with small givers.

Democrats, on the other hand, have become more dependent on big contributions.

In the last presidential election, the Democrats raised $1 million more from $1,000-and-up contributors than did the Republicans.

Johnson said he wants to broaden the participation of the people, and stimulate small contributions.

He coupled that proposal with a call for stern new laws to guarantee full disclosure of political money and its sources.

Past Congresses have shown little zest for this undertaking, even though present federal law requires reports on only a slender fraction of the contributions and costs involved in television-age elections.

Candidates for House and Senate are required to report their campaign spending — but some successful contenders have filed accounts which show no outlays at all.

Current law has been interpreted as requiring an accounting only of contributions and spending by the candidate himself. In fact, most campaign spending is handled by state or congressional district committees in behalf of the candidate.

That means campaign spending filed in Washington may show only a tiny slice of the actual expenses involved in a House or Senate race.

Johnson said he wants local and state campaign committees brought under the federal disclosure law.

At the same time, he promised legislation to change what he called unrealistic limits on contributions. There is a $3-million ceiling on fund raising and expenditures by a single, national political committee, and a $5,000 limit on the amount anyone can donate to a single candidate or political committee.

In practice, this has led to multiple committees and to contributions channeled through state and local organizations.

In the last presidential race, the Republicans raised and spent their money through nine separate campaign committees, the Democrats through 16.

Each was entitled to raise as much as $3 million.

Johnson said he wants to "prohibit the endless proliferation of committees."

Republican leaders have urged the same course, in calling for repeal of the $3-million limit.

Ft. Benning Drill Sergeant Joins 'Pupils' in Viet War

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. 25th Infantry Division has been kicking up quite a lot of dust since its 3rd Brigade came to Viet Nam.

Swirling clouds of powdery, chocolate-colored dust are the brigade's major problem. Dust lies ankle-deep on the dirt roads, ready to be churned up and stirred by trucks and marching men.

"I wanted to come over here," said Pfc. Benjamin Lee, a career soldier from Oak Ridge, Tenn., "but I'm a little surprised at what I found."

He was peering through two holes in the coating of dust that covered his Jeep's windshield.

Goggles and even surgical masks are used by drivers like Sgt. Roger Ellis of Riverside, R.I., and Spec. 6 Raymond Tahan of Cincinnati, Ohio.

"The doctor handed out masks from the medical stores," explained Capt. Donald Celata. "He figured it was good business. It should mean fewer cases of sinus trouble."

Celata is in charge of the trucks and Jeeps of the 1st Battalion.

So far, the Viet Cong have been reluctant to tangle with the hardened jungle warfare specialists of the 25th Division.

Usually the Viet Cong send infiltrators to probe the defenses of a U.S. unit fresh to Viet Nam. They reason that newly arrived men will be nervous and may fire at each other during the confusion of a fire-fight at night.

A few shots have been fired around the base perimeter, and one sentry reported he drove off an intruder seeking to crawl through the barbed wire.

"Most of the time our men have just been shooting at shadows," said S. Sgt. Willie Brammer, awaiting news of the child his wife is expecting at a hospital in Columbus, Ga.

Brammer, an intelligence sergeant at brigade headquarters, thought the presence at Pleiku of the tough U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division was keeping the Viet Cong away. The new base first was secured by the 1st Cav, which has its own operations center at An Khe, 60 miles east of here.

For Brammer, arrival in Viet

Nam meant reunion with old friends. He helped train them at Ft. Benning, Ga. One of his first calls was on Sgt. Maj. Lawrence Kennedy of Amory, Miss. Kennedy is in the 1st Squadron of the 9th Cavalry bivouacked just north of Pleiku.

The brigade is hard at work building its base camp on a barren hilltop. The brigade is about 100 miles from the sea, one of the U.S. units farthest inland in Viet Nam.

The 25th Division's training concentrated on jungle war, but ironically it has been sent to a spot in Viet Nam where there is no jungle in sight. The camp, surrounded by sparse grassland and stunted underbrush, is 2,500 feet above the steaming rice paddies along the coastal plain. The brigade finds the nights much cooler than the balmy climate at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii.

Just out of sight of the brigade's camp there is jungle aplenty. Within easy striking distance is one of the main Communist supply routes. The Ho Chi Minh trail from North Viet Nam empties men and war material into the region from eastern Laos.

The declaration by President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan and the late Lal Bahadur Shastri, prime minister of India, was a commitment to clean up the aftermath of their 22-day September war.

After the death in Tashkent of Shastri, the caretaker Prime Minister ulzari Lal Nanda, said he would carry out the Tashkent promises.

Arranging them was a major accomplishment for the host in Tashkent, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

On his first effort at Asian peacemaking, Kosygin succeeded where countries like Britain and United States were unable to because of past involvements.

But Kosygin had no more success than the West in solving the root causes of the Indian-Pakistani conflict. There in lies the failure, which probably was not unexpected by the Russians.

The unprecedented Soviet initiative to try to bring peace between two non-Communist nations appeared from here to have been mainly motivated by a desire to contain Red China.

The hostility between India and Pakistan, primarily over control of Kashmir State, had given the Red Chinese opportunity.

Peking has a running dispute with India over Himalayan borders. Pakistan has been embroiled with India over Kashmir. This gave China and Pakistan an affinity of interests.

Indians say the association has developed to the extent of Chinese weapons for Pakistan since Western supplies were cut off.

In the open rivalry between Moscow and Peking for influence, such a Chinese opportunity in Pakistan was naturally repugnant to the Russians.

One Soviet way to counter it would have been trying to favor Pakistan more. The Kremlin moved a little way in that direction, but was hampered by its influence in India.

The effort in India, which has had some notable success, was incompatible with the kind of policy China is following in Pakistan.

So the only alternative was to try for peace between India and Pakistan in order to reduce Pakistani inclinations to look to Peking as a natural ally against India.

The Tashkent Declaration consolidated the cease-fire the United Nations had arranged in the undeclared September war. It did nothing to end the Kashmir dispute.

So long as this problem remains, Indian-Pakistani relations will be poisoned.

The Tashkent promise to abjure the use of force in no way decreased the possibility of an eventual renewal of conflict over Kashmir. There had been such promises before September.

Therefore, Pakistan continues to have a natural interest in an alliance with Red China —unwritten as at present. Perhaps some day it will take more specific form.

This means a situation the Kremlin deems undesirable has not been eliminated by the Tashkent Declaration.

The World Today

By WALTER R. MEARS
(For James Marlow)
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has renewed a call for political fund-raising reforms urged upon Congress four years ago by President John F. Kennedy.

The subject is one Johnson

had not pressed since moving to the White House. After two years of silence on the matter, he welded the reform proposals into his State of the Union message.

"As the process of election becomes more complex and costly," he said, "we must make it possible for those without personal wealth to enter public life without being obligated to a few large contributors."

To do that, Johnson proposed a tax break for people who make political contributions.

Given today's fund-raising pattern, a tax break for the small donor could be a boon to Republicans. The GOP reports increasing success with small givers.

Democrats, on the other hand, have become more dependent on big contributions.

In the last presidential election, the Democrats raised $1 million more from $1,000-and-up contributors than did the Republicans.

Johnson said he wants to broaden the participation of the people, and stimulate small contributions.

He coupled that proposal with a call for stern new laws to guarantee full disclosure of political money and its sources.

Past Congresses have shown little zest for this undertaking, even though present federal law requires reports on only a slender fraction of the contributions and costs involved in television-age elections.

Candidates for House and Senate are required to report their campaign spending — but some successful contenders have filed accountings which show no outlays at all.

Current law has been interpreted as requiring an accounting only of contributions and spending by the candidate himself. In fact, most campaign spending is handled by state or congressional district committees in behalf of the candidate.

That means campaign spending filed in Washington may show only a tiny slice of the actual expenses involved in a House or Senate race.

Johnson said he wants local and state campaign committees brought under the federal disclosure law.

At the same time, he promised legislation to change what he called unrealistic limits on contributions. There is a $3-million ceiling on fund raising and expenditures by a single, national political committee, and a $5,000 limit on the amount anyone can donate to a single candidate or political committee.

In practice, this has led to multiple committees and to contributions channeled through state and local organizations.

In the last presidential race, the Republicans raised and spent their money through nine separate campaign committees, the Democrats through 16.

Each was entitled to raise as much as $3 million.

Johnson said he wants to "prohibit the endless proliferation of committees."

Republican leaders have urged the same course, in calling for repeal of the $3-million limit.

Ft. Benning Drill Sergeant Joins 'Pupils' in Viet War

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. 25th Infantry Division has been kicking up quite a lot of dust since its 3rd Brigade came to Viet Nam.

Swirling clouds of powdery, chocolate-colored dust are the brigade's major problem. Dust lies ankle-deep on the dirt roads, ready to be churned up and stirred by trucks and marching men.

"I wanted to come over here," said Pfc. Benjamin Lee, a career soldier from Oak Ridge, Tenn., "but I'm a little surprised at what I found."

He was peering through two holes in the coating of dust that covered his Jeep's windshield.

Goggles and even surgical masks are used by drivers like Sgt. Roger Ellis of Riverside, R.I., and Spec. 6 Raymond Tahan of Cincinnati, Ohio.

"The doctor handed out masks from the medical stores," explained Capt. Donald Celata. "He figured it was good business. It should mean fewer cases of sinus trouble."

Celata is in charge of the trucks and Jeeps of the 1st Battalion.

So far, the Viet Cong have been reluctant to tangle with the hardened jungle warfare specialists of the 25th Division.

Usually the Viet Cong send infiltrators to probe the defenses of a U.S. unit fresh to Viet Nam. They reason that newly arrived men will be nervous and may fire at each other during the confusion of a fire-fight at night.

A few shots have been fired around the base perimeter, and one sentry reported he drove off an intruder seeking to crawl through the barbed wire.

"Most of the time our men have just been shooting at shadows," said S. Sgt. Willie Brammer, awaiting news of the child his wife is expecting at a hospital in Columbus, Ga.

Brammer, an intelligence sergeant at brigade headquarters, thought the presence at Pleiku of the tough U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division was keeping the Viet Cong away. The new base first was secured by the 1st Cav, which has its own operations center at An Khe, 60 miles east of here.

For Brammer, arrival in Viet

Nam meant reunion with old friends. He helped train them at Ft. Benning, Ga. One of his first calls was on Sgt. Maj. Lawrence Kennedy of Amory, Miss. Kennedy is in the 1st Squadron of the 9th Cavalry bivouacked just north of Pleiku.

The brigade is hard at work building its base camp on a barren hilltop. The brigade is about 100 miles from the sea, one of the U.S. units farthest inland in Viet Nam.

The 25th Division's training concentrated on jungle war, but ironically it has been sent to a spot in Viet Nam where there is no jungle in sight. The camp, surrounded by sparse grassland and stunted underbrush, is 2,500 feet above the steaming rice paddies along the coastal plain. The brigade finds the nights much cooler than the balmy climate at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii.

Just out of sight of the brigade's camp there is jungle aplenty. Within easy striking distance is one of the main Communist supply routes. The Ho Chi Minh trail from North Viet Nam empties men and war material into the region from eastern Laos.

32 Ohioans Are 'Safe' In Unrest in Nigeria

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Nigerian unrest finds 32 Ohio University faculty members on assignment, and their families with them, safe and in no danger, the government has advised. The university has 17 persons at Kano and 15 at Abadan under two-year assignments in the Agency for International Development.

Cincinnati Held In Hit-Skip Fatality

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 30-year-old laborer has been charged with second degree man slaughter and leaving the scene of an accident in the hit-skip death of an elderly woman.

Mrs. Roxanna Porter, 65, was struck by a car and killed Saturday night while crossing a street near her home. Willie Roberson, Cincinnati, has been charged in the death.

Dear Abby: Anything in Her Favor?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a girl eight months ago, and five minutes after I met her I confided to a friend, "There is the future Mrs. K——." I mention this just to emphasize what a great impression she made on me. I am a high school dropout, through no fault of my own, but a dropout nonetheless. She is a high school teacher with a B.A. degree, going for her M.A. I am 29 and she is 26. I sell for a living and do very well. Here is my problem:

She is trying to remake me. I don't mind criticism because I really want to improve myself, but I can't even turn around without her correcting me. "Don't talk so fast." "Don't rattle your keys in your pocket!" "Stand up straight!" "Quit cracking your knuckles!" "Clean your glasses!" She even criticizes my driving. There is something wrong with everything I do. I can't even drink a cup of coffee without her telling me that I'm making too much noise. Yet I still want to marry her. WHY?

PICKED TO PIECES
DEAR ABBY: Beats me. There must be something very special in this girl's favor that you have failed to mention.

DEAR ABBY: We have a child in our neighborhood (I'll call him Dickie), who has just turned five. Dickie has been the cause of many "accidents" involving the neighborhood children. For instance, my baby was sitting in her stroller outside when Dickie took her for a "walk" (run) into the back fence, and knocked her out. I have forbidden him to go near the baby again.

Then he took my three-year-old boy for a "ride" on his trike, and my boy "fell off", cutting his forehead so badly that he had to have eight stitches in it. Now my five-year-old just came home with a bump on his head the size of an egg. Dickie hurled an inner tube at him knocking his head against a tree.

These are only a few incidents involving my own children. Dickie has been responsible for many other "accidents" involving other neighborhood children. I once complained to his mother, and she just laughed and said he was "all boy." This is fine, but I would like to see my children grow to adulthood despite this child. Am I an over-protective mother? What now?

UPSET MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: You and your husband and the parents of the other children who have been victimized by Dickie's "all boy" behavior should call on Dickie's parents. Urge them to take this child to a specialist in child behavior. Their boy could be disturbed and in need of professional help. The child is all but sending up flares for help. In the meantime, keep your own children safely out of Dickie's reach.

DEAR ABBY: Last month our son joined the armed forces. The night before he left, many of his friends and relatives honored him with gifts of money. In a few weeks he got an honorable discharge because of an injury. Please, Abby, advise us if it is proper for him to return the money to those who gave it to him. He doesn't want to offend anyone, but he doesn't feel right keeping it.

W. VIRGINIA
DEAR W. VIRGINIA: Your

son should attempt to return the money. The givers will probably insist that he keep it, but feeling as he does, he should make the gesture.

Dear Abby: Anything in Her Favor?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a girl eight months ago, and five minutes after I met her I confided to a friend, "There is the future Mrs. K——." I mention this just to emphasize what a great impression she made on me. I am a high school dropout, through no fault of my own, but a dropout nonetheless. She is a high school teacher with a B.A. degree, going for her M.A. I am 29 and she is 26. I sell for a living and do very well. Here is my problem:

She is trying to remake me. I don't mind criticism because I really want to improve myself, but I can't even turn around without her correcting me. "Don't talk so fast." "Don't rattle your keys in your pocket!" "Stand up straight!" "Quit cracking your knuckles!" "Clean your glasses!" She even criticizes my driving. There is something wrong with every thing I do. I can't even drink a cup of coffee without her telling me that I'm making too much noise. Yet I still want to marry her. WHY?

PICKED TO PIECES
DEAR PICKED: Beats me. There must be something very special in this girl's favor that you have failed to mention.

DEAR ABBY: We have a child in our neighborhood (I'll call him Dickie), who has just turned five. Dickie has been the cause of many "accidents" involving the neighborhood children. For instance, my baby was sitting in her stroller outside when Dickie took her for a "walk" (run) into the back fence, and knocked her out. I have forbidden him to go near the baby again.

Then he took my three-year-old boy for a "ride" on his trike, and my boy "fell off", cutting his forehead so badly that he had to have eight stitches in it. Now my five-year-old just came home with a bump on his head the size of an egg. Dickie hurled an inner tube at him knocking his head against a tree.

These are only a few incidents involving my own children. Dickie has been responsible for many other "accidents" involving other neighborhood children. I once complained to his mother, and she just laughed and said he was "all boy." This is fine, but I would like to see my children grow to adulthood despite this child. Am I an over-protective mother? What now?

UPSET MOTHER
DEAR UPSET: You and your husband and the parents of the other children who have been victimized by Dickie's "all boy" behavior should call on Dickie's parents. Urge them to take this child to a specialist in child behavior. Their boy could be disturbed and in need of professional help. The child is all but sending up flares for help. In the meantime, keep your own children safely out of Dickie's reach.

DEAR ABBY: Last month our son joined the armed forces. The night before he left, many of his friends and relatives honored him with gifts of money. In a few weeks he got an honorable discharge because of an injury. Please, Abby, advise us if it is proper for him to return the money to those who gave it to him. He doesn't want to offend anyone, but he doesn't feel right keeping it.

W. VIRGINIA
DEAR W. VIRGINIA: Your

son should attempt to return the money. The givers will probably insist that he keep it, but feeling as he does, he should make the gesture.

Circleville Tigers Defeated By Classy Lancaster, 90-63

By STEVE JONES

Circleville's game but out-classed basketball team was handed a 90-63 defeat by Lancaster Saturday on the Gales' home floor.

Lancaster is tied for second in the rugged Central Ohio League, a half game behind Newark. The Gales have an overall 8-2 record for the season, losing to Zanesville and to Athens.

A size disadvantage once again contributed to the Tigers coming out on the short end of the score.

The Gales' front line included Paul Callahan, 6-4; Mike Baughman, 6-3; and Bill Grein, 6-2. This trio scored 10, nine and 24 points respectively.

REX KERN and Dan Williams, a pair of 6-0 guards, scored 11 and 10 points as four of the Gales hit double figures in their torrid shooting attack.

Although Lancaster's 90-point offense was impressive, it was the defensive work of the Gales that did so much damage.

The Tigers were held to eight points in the first quarter, 16 in the second and 15 in the third.

The final canto saw the Tigers notching 24, after Lancaster held a 71-39 lead as the period began.

The tenacious defense of the Gales forced Circleville into 21 turnovers and the hosts speared 22 defensive rebounds.

In basketball, each team has the same number of chances with the ball, and it is the shooting, rebounding and mistakes that spell the margin of defeat.

And the Gales led in all departments Saturday. They had only nine turnovers. Circleville had three less defensive rebounds.

From the field, the Lancaster cagers fired away at the basket a total of 90 times, connecting on 36 for a 40 per cent shooting average.

The Tigers took only 63 shots, connected on 22 for a little less than 35 per cent. From the foul line, the only department in which the Tigers led, Circleville hit 19 of 26 while Lancaster converted 18 of 28.

The leading scorer for Circleville was Jimmy Diltz. Held to two points the first half when he hit only one of four field goal attempts, he exploded for 18 in the second half, bringing his total for the game to 20.

In the second half, he took 12 shots from the field, making eight of them. He hit both of his chances at the charity stripe.

The senior letterman was the only Red and Black performer to break into the double figure column. Tim Stonerock was next in scoring with nine.

NOTHING seven were Roger Grigg, Dan Speakman and Joe Winner. Mike Martindill had six, Danny Gibbs five and Scott McFarland two.

Both coaches, Chuck Hill for the Tigers and George Hill for the Gales, substituted freely

Gales Down Reserve Team

In the reserve game at Lancaster Saturday, the Circleville junior varsity unit was defeated, 49-40, by the little Gales.

The young Tigers were behind the entire game, trailing 10-6 at the end of the first quarter, 18-10 at halftime and 33-19 going into the final period.

Exactly one half of Circleville's points came at the foul line where they hit 20 times.

Bob Tootle's 11 points led the Circleville offense. High point man for Lancaster was Tom McNeelan, a 6-5 sophomore, who had 20.

It was the ninth loss in 10 games for the little Tigers.

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — American tennis star Arthur Ashe certainly can't complain about Australian hospitality.

Viking Five Trips Fairfield-Union In 72-57 Tilt

By BILL DORE

The Vikings of Teays Valley continued their weekend winning ways again Saturday night in fine fashion, by downing visiting Fairfield Union, 72-57.

The host players weren't very cordial as they swept both ends of the docket. The Viking Jayvees downed the reserve Falcons, 51-47.

Teays Valley went ahead 1-0 on Gerald Green's free throw early in the game. After that the score was tied four times in the first quarter before Rod Teets hit a foul toss with 3:09 to go and put the Vikings ahead for good.

For all of the second canto, and part of the third, the Falcons stayed within 10 points of the Vikings. Halfway in the third period, the visitors started to make a move, and with 4:28 to go, pulled within five, 39-34. But from then on out it was all Teays Valley as the Vikings rolled to a .500 season again at 6-6.

Tom Hampton rolled to a 29 point performance for the Elks. He got good scoring support from Jake Bailey with 20, Tyler with 17 and Bill Johnson with 15.

The leading scorer for the losing oilers was Tom Harber with 20.

Noel's King Boy, with only four players, trailed Grove City throughout the entire game.

PHIL ROESE gained game scoring honors as he collected 38 markers in a losing effort.

For the winning five, Bill Burchfield tallied 29.

Western NFL Football Stars Are Drubbed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's elementary in football that the less you give up the ball the more chance a team has to win. When you surrender the ball 10 times, well—

"That's the whole story of the game."

Author of this was Coach Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers, whose favored West team was drubbed 36-7 by the East in Sunday's National Football League Pro Bowl game.

Two fumbles and eight pass interceptions by the alert East certainly contributed to the downfall of Lombardi's warriors.

There were other factors, notably the East's on-target quarterback, Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns; his teammate, fullback Jim Brown, and the St. Louis Cardinals' kicking specialist, Jim Bakken.

Jim Brown—there were six fellows named Brown in the game—scored three touchdowns to equal a pro bowl record.

True, his combined yardage for the scores was five. But he banged out a total of 64 and was named for the third time as Back of the Game.

Ryan completed 10 of 21 passes for 182 yards, a 51-yard throw setting up one touchdown on the West's two.

Bakken's contributions were three field goals of 41, 35 and 42 yards.

But for some 60,124 fans in Memorial Coliseum, perhaps the main show finally centered on the West's No. 1 quarterback, John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers.

Brodie set a Pro Bowl record, too, for the number of intercepted passes he threw. The number was six.

It broke by one Otto Graham's mark in the 1953 game.

Casper Cops Hometown's Golf Purse

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper has triumphed in 30 PGA tournaments but none exceeded the thrill of victory in Sunday's San Diego Open.

The 34-year-old Casper, veteran of 11 pro years, finally won before the home folks by blazing a trail of seven birdies for a last-round 64 and a 16-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I've always wanted to win at home," said Casper, "so this is a very gratifying victory. I worked awful hard last year but couldn't win it when I shot a 64 on the last round and tied the tournament record.

Casper and Wes Ellis of West Caldwell, N.J., fired 267s in 1965 but Ellis won on the first hole of the playoff.

This tourney was worth $40,000, and Casper's share was $5,800.

Four strokes behind in second place were Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., and Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio.

Don January, a veteran on the tour from Dallas, faltered to a 73 and 72-hole score of 273, tying for third with young Paul Bondeson of Palm Springs, Calif., who fired a par 71.

Defending champion Ellis carded a 73 in the final round after a 68-69-68—205 had kept him in contention.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, 1965 National League flag winners, tied the Pittsburgh Pirates for sixth place in 1964.

Detroit To Bid For '72 Olympics

CHICAGO (AP) — It took three ballots before Detroit gained a simple majority edge over Los Angeles to win the honor of being the U. S. city of bid at the international level for the 1972 Summer Olympic Games.

Salt Lake City was designated on the first ballot to bid for the 1972 Winter Olympiad.

The action came Saturday in a vote of 42 members of the U. S. Olympic Committee meeting in Chicago.

For the eighth time the Motor City will be bidding for the Summer games, never having won them. In 1964, Detroit finished second to Mexico City when the International Olympic Committee awarded the 1968 site.

Key Ohio College Cage Tests Near

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Key contests are on the Ohio collegiate basketball agenda this week and the results could go a long way in settling conference races.

Miami, sitting pretty with a 4-0 record in the Mid-American Conference, plays at home Wednesday and Saturday against Western Michigan and Kent State.

The Redskins could just about sail out of reach with a pair of victories. But they'll have to do it without sparky sophomore Phil Snow, their No. 2 scorer, out with a bad knee at least a week.

Miami came through again Saturday night with a thrilling 65-63 triumph over revitalized Bowling Green despite losing Snow after a first-half collision.

Cincinnati, 11-2 over-all and 2-1 in the Missouri Valley Conference, faces a pair of rugged rivals in league competition. Bradley (4-1) visits the Queen City Wednesday and the Bearcats journey to Louisville Saturday for a game against the Cardinals (2-2).

Cincinnati built a 16-point lead with three minutes to play Saturday and then withstood a furious St. Louis rally for an 81-73 victory.

Dayton, 11-2, had little trouble disposing of Seattle 81-65 as sophomore whiz Don May rapped up 32 points and 14 rebounds. The Flyers have a tuneup against St. Francis (Pa.) tonight before playing at Louisville Wednesday. Western Kentucky (12-1) supplies the opposition Saturday in one of the big games of the season in Gem City.

Ohio State, looking for its first Big Ten triumph, entertains Northwestern (1-2) Saturday. The Buckeyes, 0-2, were plagued by 31 errors over the weekend that proved costly in an 80-64 setback to Michigan State.

In other Mid-Am action, Marshall's sophomore-laden quintet pulled away from Ohio University late in the game for a 79-68 victory and Western Michigan overpowered Kent State 92-82. Marshall and Western are both 2-1.

Upsets marked Saturday play as Akron fell for the first time

Viking Five Trips Fairfield-Union In 72-57 Tilt

By BILL DORE

The Vikings of Teays Valley continued their weekend winning ways again Saturday night in fine fashion, by downing visiting Fairfield Union, 72-57.

The host players weren't very cordial as they swept both ends of the docket. The Viking Jayvees downed the reserve Falcons, 51-47.

Teays Valley went ahead 1-0 on Gerald Green's free throw early in the game. After that the score was tied four times in the first quarter before Rod Teets hit a foul toss with 3:09 to go and put the Vikings ahead for good.

For all of the second canto, and part of the third, the Falcons stayed within 10 points of the Vikings. Halfway in the third period, the visitors started to make a move, and with 4:28 to go, pulled within five, 39-34. But from then on out it was all Teays Valley as the Vikings rolled to a .500 season again at 6-6.

The hidden man for the Russ Gregg coached Vikings was Gayle Fosnaugh, as he hauled down 10 rebounds and assisted fellow Vikings five times. Teets aided Fosnaugh in the rebounding area with nine.

Balanced scoring again was the story as four of five starters hit double figures. Teets and Gerald Green chipped in with 10 and 14 respectively.

For the game, the Vikings hit a respectable 42 per cent of 64 shots taken from the field. From the charity stripe, they improved vastly from the previous night, cashing in on 18 of 25 shots for a 72 per cent mark.

Detroit To Bid For '72 Olympics

CHICAGO (AP) — It took three ballots before Detroit gained a simple majority edge over Los Angeles to win the honor of being the U. S. city of bid at the international level for the 1972 Summer Olympic Games.

Salt Lake City was designated on the first ballot to bid for the 1972 Winter Olympiad.

The action came Saturday in a vote of 42 members of the U. S. Olympic Committee meeting in Chicago.

For the eighth time the Motor City will be bidding for the Summer games, never having won them. In 1964, Detroit finished second to Mexico City when the International Olympic Committee awarded the 1968 site.

Western NFL Football Stars Are Drubbed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's elementary in football that the less you give up the ball the more chance a team has to win. When you surrender the ball 10 times, well—

"That's the whole story of the game."

Author of this was Coach Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers, whose favored West team was drubbed 36-7 by the East in Sunday's National Football League Pro Bowl game.

Two fumbles and eight pass interceptions by the alert East certainly contributed to the downfall of Lombardi's warriors.

There were other factors, notably the East's on-target quarterback, Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns; his teammate, fullback Jim Brown, and the St. Louis Cardinals' kicking specialist, Jim Bakken.

Jim Brown—there were six fellows named Brown in the game—scored three touchdowns to equal a pro bowl record.

True, his combined yardage for the scores was five. But he banged out a total of 64 and was named for the third time as Back of the Game.

Ryan completed 10 of 21 passes for 182 yards, a 51-yard throw setting up one touchdown on the West's two.

Bakken's contributions were three field goals of 41, 36 and 42 yards.

But for some 60,124 fans in Memorial Coliseum, perhaps the main show finally centered on the West's No. 1 quarterback, John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers.

Brodie set a Pro Bowl record, too—for the number of intercepted passes he threw. The number was six.

It broke by one Otto Graham's mark in the 1953 game.

Casper Cops Hometown's Golf Purse

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper has triumphed in 30 PGA tournaments but none exceeded the thrill of victory in Sunday's San Diego Open.

The 34-year-old Casper, veteran of 11 pro years, finally won before the home folks by blazing a trail of seven birdies for a last-round 64 and a 16-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I've always wanted to win at home," said Casper, "so this is a very gratifying victory. I worked awful hard last year but couldn't win it when I shot a 64 on the last round and tied the tournament record.

Casper and Wes Ellis of West Caldwell, N.J., fired 267s in 1965 but Ellis won on the first hole of the playoff.

This tourney was worth $40,000, and Casper's share was $5,800.

Four strokes behind in second place were Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., and Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio.

Don January, a veteran on the tour from Dallas, faltered to a 73 and 72-hole score of 273, tying for third with young Paul Bondeson of Palm Springs, Calif., who fired a par 71.

Defending champion Ellis carded a 73 in the final round after a 68-69-68—205 had kept him in contention.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, 1965 National League flag winners, tied the Pittsburgh Pirates for sixth place in 1964.

Key Ohio College Cage Tests Near

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Key contests are on the Ohio collegiate basketball agenda this week and the results could go a long way in settling conference races.

Miami, sitting pretty with a 4-0 record in the Mid-American Conference, plays at home Wednesday and Saturday against Western Michigan and Kent State.

The Redskins could just about sail out of reach with a pair of victories. But they'll have to do it without sparky sophomore Phil Snow, their No. 2 scorer, out with a bad knee at least a week.

Cincinnati built a 16-point lead with three minutes to play Saturday and then withstood a furious St. Louis rally for an 81-75 victory.

Dayton, 11-2, had little trouble disposing of Seattle 81-65 as sophomore whiz Don May rang up 32 points and 14 rebounds.

The Flyers have a tuneup against St. Francis (Pa.) tonight before playing at Louisville Wednesday. Western Kentucky (12-1) supplies the opposition Saturday in one of the big games of the season in Gem City.

Ohio State, looking for its first Big Ten triumph, entertains Northwestern (1-2) Saturday. The Buckeyes, 0-2, were plagued by 31 errors over the weekend that proved costly in an 80-64 setback to Michigan State.

In other Mid-Am action, Marshall's sophomore-laden quintet pulled away from Ohio University late in the game for a 79-68 victory and Western Michigan overpowered Kent State 92-82. Marshall and Western are both 2-1.

Upsets marked Saturday play as Akron fell for the first time at Buffalo, 73-70. The Zips (9-1) were the last Buckeye team to drop from the ranks of the unbeaten.

In other OC frays, Hiram downed Capital 82-74; Kenyon stopped Baldwin-Wallace 82-72 and once-beaten Mount Union toppled Muskingum 56-44.

Lebanon Basketball Team Loses Men Because of 'Good Behavior'

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — If that supposed home floor advantage means anything, there is a basketball team here that has it made.

All of its 45 or so games must be played on the team's own floor.

The reason—the team represents the Lebanon Correctional Institute and the players, all of them serving sentences for various crimes, aren't allowed to leave.

Of course, the home floor advantage may not mean much—as a general rule the players are booed lustily by their fellow inmates.

The only explanation that can be offered for that by Assistant Superintendent G. E. Miller is that "it could be jealousy on the part of the men who didn't make the team."

Lt. Glenn Schlagheck, coach of the team, known as the Buccaneers, agrees but said the boos sometimes turn to cheers. "The inmates don't expect our team to lose," he said. "When we get down a few points, then they will cheer for us—sometimes."

But the Buccaneers apparently don't get behind very often. Their record to date is 23 - 3 against independent and AAU teams from as far south as Lexington, Ky. and as far north as above Columbus.

Lt. Schlagheck has 12 to 14 men on the "varsity" squad and most of them have had little or no athletic experience. Lt. Schlagheck, himself, has no college or high school coaching experience but he engaged in sports while attending Kings Mills High School and while in service.

His biggest problem is the turnover in team personnel.

Where college and high school players sometimes are banished from squads for misbehavior, Lt. Schlagheck loses his by good behavior. The average stay of an inmate in the institute is 14 months, so he loses players by the parole route frequently.

His tallest player, a man standing 6-6 and averaging 31 points a game, currently is "ineligible" for disciplinary reasons.

That leaves a six-foot, four-inch man as the biggest player on the team.

One of the things Lt. Schlagheck insists on is clean play. "Teams that come in to play against us are surprised that we play so clean," he said. "The way we see it, we have to be better sports than the opposition."

Attendance at games is purely voluntary and Lt. Schlagheck said that usually about half of the 1,300 to 1,400 inmates attend.

The basketball team, however, is only one phase of the recreation program at the institute. The inmates also engage in badminton, volleyball, boxing, weight lifting, track and field events and other sports.

Superintendent R. W. Alvis

described the program as "something to take their minds off the frustrations and anxieties of being in an unnatural environment."

Inmates at the institute are first offenders, ranging in age from 18 to 30.

Baron Rupp Changes His Defense, Trips Vanderbilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adolph Rupp took the transition out of Kentucky's stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid and the sting out of Vanderbilt's attack.

As a result, second-ranked Kentucky defeated third-ranked Vanderbilt 96-83 Saturday and extended its unbeaten basketball victory string to 12.

The loss, only the Commodores' second in 16 games, came after Vanderbilt built a 13-6 lead in the first five minutes. It was during that time that the Wildcats employed a 1-3-1 zone defense — or as Rupp likes to call it, a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid.

But when he saw it wasn't working, Rupp had his players change tactics. They made the transition to the man-to-man defense and slowed the Commodores the rest of the way.

The 64-year-old Rupp, the winningest active coach in college basketball, devised his 3-3-1 defense two years ago. But since he always abhorred the term zone defense, Rupp denied that it was a zone.

"We never have used the zone at Kentucky and never intend to," he said, his tongue firmly planted in his cheek. "That was no zone. It was simply a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid."

Zone or paraboloid, the Wildcats will have the next week to work on it. They, like most of the Top Ten, are idle this week.

Others that don't play until the close of final examination are Duke, No. 1; Vanderbilt; Providence, No. 6; Texas Western, No. 8; and UCLA, No. 9.

Duke extended its winning streak to 12, crushing Wake Forest 101-81 behind the 36-point performance of Jack Marin. The Blue Devils now are 14-1.

UCLA wasn't so fortunate. Stanford defeated the Bruins 74-69, handing the defending NCAA champions their first Pacific Athletic Conference loss after 36 straight victories. Art Harris led the host Indians with 24 points.

Brigham Young, No. 7 also was a loser among the Top Ten, dropping a 107-101 decision at Wyoming.

Providence and 10th-ranked Kansas, meanwhile, barely escaped with triumphs. Providence edged Boston College 79-77 on Jim Walker's two free throws with four seconds left while Kansas nipped Iowa State 49-47 as Bob Wilson tossed in a 15-foot jump shot at the final buzzer.

Clay Hires Joe Louis As Adviser

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, unbeaten in his 22 pro fights, has hired Joe Louis to work with him "because it's time Joe was with a winner."

The former heavyweight king will have plenty of chances to be with a winner said Clay in announcing that he hopes to have four title fights this year. He said No. 1 may be announced by Tuesday.

"I want the first one within 10 weeks to three months," said Clay, who celebrated his 24th birthday today.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers to be called, named Doug Jones of New York, Ernie Terrell of Chicago, George Chuvalo of Toronto and England's Brian London as the four possible opponents for this year, adding that Jones "is the most likely at this time."

The champion announced the hiring of Louis "for training and advising" and his fight plans in accepting the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as Fighter of the Year. Louis sat next to him at the Boxing Writers Association's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Sunday night.

Louis has worked with a string of losers. His last one was Sonny Liston for the return fight with Clay. The Big Bear went out in the first round.

Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale accounted for 64 of the Los Angeles Dodgers' 97 National League victories during 1965.

Lebanon Basketball Team Loses Men Because of 'Good Behavior'

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — If that supposed home floor advantage means anything, there is a basketball team here that has it made.

All of its 45 or so games must be played on the team's own floor.

The reason—the team represents the Lebanon Correctional Institute and the players, all of them serving sentences for various crimes, aren't allowed to leave.

Of course, the home floor advantage may not mean much—as a general rule the players are booed lustily by their fellow inmates.

The only explanation that can be offered for that by Assistant Superintendent G. E. Miller is that "it could be jealousy on the part of the men who didn't make the team."

Lt. Glenn Schlagheck, coach of the team, known as the Buccaneers, agrees but said the boys sometimes turn to cheers. "The inmates don't expect our team to lose," he said. "When we get down a few points, then they will cheer for us—sometimes."

But the Buccaneers apparently don't get behind very often. Their record to date is 23-3 against independent and AAU teams from as far south as Lexington, Ky. and as far north as above Columbus.

Lt. Schlagheck has 12 to 14 men on the "varsity" squad and most of them have had little or no athletic experience. Lt. Schlagheck, himself, has no college or high school coaching experience but he engaged in sports while attending Kings Mills High School and while in service.

His biggest problem is the turnover in team personnel.

Where college and high school players sometimes are banished from squads for misbehavior, Lt. Schlagheck loses his by good behavior. The average stay of an inmate in the institute is 14 months, so he loses players by the parole route frequently.

His tallest player, a man standing 6-6 and averaging 31 points a game, currently is "ineligible" for disciplinary reasons.

That leaves a six-foot, four-inch man as the biggest player on the team.

One of the things Lt. Schlagheck insists on is clean play. "Teams that come in to play against us are surprised that we play so clean," he said. "The way we see it, we have to be better sports than the opposition."

Attendance at games is purely voluntary and Lt. Schlagheck said that usually about half of the 1,300 to 1,400 inmates attend.

The basketball team, however, is only one phase of the recreation program at the institute. The inmates also engage in badminton, volleyball, boxing, weight lifting, track and field events and other sports.

Superintendent R. W. Alvis

described the program as "something to take their minds off the frustrations and anxieties of being in an unnatural environment."

Inmates at the institute are first offenders, ranging in age from 18 to 30.

Baron Rupp Changes His Defense, Trips Vanderbilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adolph Rupp took the transition out of Kentucky's stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid and the sting out of Vanderbilt's attack.

As a result, second-ranked Kentucky defeated third-ranked Vanderbilt 96-83 Saturday and extended its unbeaten basketball victory string to 12.

The loss, only the Commodores' second in 16 games, came after Vanderbilt built a 13-6 lead in the first five minutes. It was during that time that the Wildcats employed a 1-3-1 zone defense — or as Rupp likes to call it, a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid. But when he saw it wasn't working, Rupp had his players change tactics. They made the transition to the man-to-man defense and slowed the Commodores the rest of the way.

The 64-year-old Rupp, the winningest active coach in college basketball, devised his 3-3-1 defense two years ago. But since he always abhorred the term zone defense, Rupp denied that it was a zone.

"We never have used the zone at Kentucky and never intend to," he said, his tongue firmly planted in his cheek. "That was no zone. It was simply a stratified, transitional, hyperbolic paraboloid."

Zone or paraboloid, the Wildcats will have the next week to work on it. They, like most of the Top Ten, are idle this week.

Others that don't play until the close of final examination are Duke, No. 1; Vanderbilt; Providence, No. 6; Texas Western, No. 8; and UCLA, No. 9.

Duke extended its winning streak to 12, crushing Wake Forest 101-81 behind the 36-point performance of Jack Marin. The Blue Devils now are 14-1.

UCLA wasn't so fortunate. Stanford defeated the Bruins 74-69, handing the defending NCAA champions their first Pacific Athletic Conference loss after 36 straight victories. Art Harris led the host Indians with 24 points.

Brigham Young, No. 7 also was a loser among the Top Ten, dropping a 107-101 decision at Wyoming.

Providence and 10th-ranked Kansas, meanwhile, barely escaped with triumphs. Providence edged Boston College 79-77 on Jim Walker's two free throws with four seconds left while Kansas nipped Iowa State 49-47 as Bob Wilson tossed in a 15-foot jump shot at the final buzzer.

Clay Hires Joe Louis As Adviser

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, unbeaten in his 22 pro fights, has hired Joe Louis to work with him "because it's time Joe was with a winner."

The former heavyweight king will have plenty of chances to be with a winner said Clay in announcing that he hopes to have four title fights this year. He said No. 1 may be announced by Tuesday.

"I want the first one within 10 weeks to three months," said Clay, who celebrated his 24th birthday today.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers to be called, named Doug Jones of New York, Ernie Terrell of Chicago, George Chuvalo of Toronto and England's Brian London as the four possible opponents for this year, adding that Jones "is the most likely at this time."

The champion announced the hiring of Louis "for training and advising" and his fight plans in accepting the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as Fighter of the Year. Louis sat next to him at the Boxing Writers Association's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Sunday night.

Louis has worked with a string of losers. His last one was Sonny Liston for the return fight with Clay. The Big Bear went out in the first round.

Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale accounted for 64 of the Los Angeles Dodgers' 97 National League victories during 1965.

Ailing Wilt Sees 76ers Take Lumps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilt Chamberlain got sick, Bill Russell got hurt and the Cincinnati Royals got scared. All in all it was a typical day in the National Basketball Association's tension-packed Eastern Division.

Chamberlain, who was stricken with food poisoning after eating Saturday night, watched from the bench, and Russell bruised a shoulder but not before making his presence felt as Boston beat Philadelphia 137-122 Sunday afternoon.

The Royals came from behind and then had Detroit almost turn the table on them before edging the Pistons 108-106 for their 11th victory in their last 12 starts.

After the smoke cleared, Boston still led the East by one-half game over Cincinnati while Philadelphia was four games back of the Celtics.

St. Louis beat Baltimore 136-128 in another afternoon game.

Second-year man Laticious Jackson took over for Chamberlain against Russell, and scored only 11 points while Russell scored 19, got 14 rebounds and blocked several shots before going out late in the third period with the bruised shoulder.

Farm Bureau Membership Week Opens

Gov. James A. Rhodes has proclaimed the week of Jan. 17 as Farm Bureau Membership Week in Ohio.

The governor's proclamation recognizes the importance of agriculture to the economy of Ohio and the nation and urged all citizens to support Farm Bureau's membership drive.

FB WEEK — Loring Leist, Pickaway County Farm Bureau president, reviews a proclamation by Gov. James Rhodes proclaiming Farm Bureau Membership Week.

To coincide with the proclamation the Pickaway County Farm Bureau is playing host to the first Tri-County Membership Kick-Off. It is being held tonight at the 4-H and Grange Building with Pickaway, Fairfield and Ross Counties participating.

Nelson Stevens, Tri-County organization director, will be in charge of tonight's meeting. He reports his group is expecting more than 200 Tri-County farmers who are involved in the membership campaign. He said enthusiasm for this one week membership drive is very good.

IN PRIOR years the membership drive ran into April. Consequently the county programs were hindered by this activity. This year's drive will run from Jan. 17-23 so that all county programs can get under way by Feb. 1.

William Walker and Robert A. Jones, membership chairman, report more than 75 Pickaway County farmers have volunteered to help with this all out campaign.

The county membership in 1965 was 623 farm families. The goal for this year is 638.

'Wrong Men' Are Involved In Dayton Extortion Plot

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A would-be $100,000 extortion plot here turned into a "bomb" and in more ways than one.

Both the extortionist and the police went after the wrong man.

A bowling bag played a starring role in the drama last week.

It began when L. Howard Miller, 68, of the Miller-Pickard Insurance Co. received a letter and telephone call from a man who threatened to do $1 million damage to property insured by Miller.

The blackmailer said give him $100,000 or he would destroy five buildings.

He mentioned one building by name, an apartment house under construction, which it turned out was insured by another firm with the name of Miller. Detective Capt. Grover O'Conner said the threatened Miller had no connection with the building.

But L. Howard Miller told police about the threat last Tuesday and they asked him to pretend to cooperate with the extortionist.

The culprit told Miller to put the $100,000 in a bowling bag and leave it in the men's room of a certain bowling establishment.

Miller told police, who stationed detectives in the place. As requested by police, Miller stuffed newspapers instead of money in the bag and locked it.

He asked several men at the bowling lanes, including a 34-year-old part-time employee there, the way to the restroom. He walked in, left the locked bag, and departed.

The employee noticed Miller leave without the bag and became suspicious. He and a porter went to check the bag only to find they couldn't open it.

The two carried the bag out. Detective L. L. Combs, hidden in the men's room, had been watching — and other officers closed in and arrested the employee.

He volunteered to take a lie detector test. He told police he thought the man might have planted a bomb. The test cleared him and he was released Saturday.

Police said Sunday night they have no leads in the case.

Jazz Group Joins in Church Rites

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Episcopal layman stepped to the marble pulpit of the Gothic-arched cathedral and said, "We hit the road with this one."

The band ripped into "Musk-rat Ramble" and the service was off and swinging.

Robert Guertin had introduced a professional jazz group (The Dukes of Dixieland) for one of their numbers at Trinity Cathedral Sunday.

Bishop Nelson M. Burroughs of the Ohio Episcopal Diocese called it "an hour of creative worship."

It was jazz, smooth and blaring, and the capacity congregation of 1,200 applauded for "Canal Street Blues" and "When the Saints Come Marching In." The group also interpreted three religious hymns and the congregation joined in the singing.

Guertin gave a running commentary on the program, "Jazz on a Sunday Afternoon," and said it "was a gig with a capital."

Why jazz in church?

"All our talents come from God," Guertin said. "So every day and every week we must dedicate our talent back to God. These jazzmen are just as serious and just as dedicated as any man in any other profession."

One of the rituals observed on Jan. 6 is the blessing of the Greek sponge divers at Tarpon Springs, Fla., and the casting of a gold crucifix into the waters to signify the baptism of Christ.

Archbishop of Canterbury Plans for Visit to Pope

LONDON (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury's visit to Pope Paul VI in March will be only the second time a primate of all England has gone to the Vatican since the Reformation.

The first time was in December 1960 when Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher, now retired, called raised a storm with some Protestant churchmen fearing the Church of England was thinking of a return to Rome after four centuries of separation.

What was difficult and unfamiliar five years ago is less complicated today.

Dr. Michael Ramsey, the present archbishop, is chairman of the Lambeth Conference of Anglican Bishops throughout the world as well as spiritual head of the Church of England. Although he has no jurisdiction over the 18 Anglican churches outside the Church of England, he can speak in a sense for the 44 millions in the Anglican Communion.

Although the archbishop's trip to Rome is called a courtesy visit officially, he is taking along Dr. John N. D. Kelly, chairman of the Anglican Commission on Roman Catholic Relations. Other advisers with him will include Canadian Bishop Ralph Dean, executive officer of the Anglican Communion; and Bishop John Moorman of Ripon, the senior Anglican observer at the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Dr. Ramsey, 61, believes there will be a united Christendom again—though not in his lifetime.

He said he did not think Anglicans could accept the papacy in its present form.

However, because the Church of England has kept to many Roman Catholic traditions, Anglican churchmen seem to feel they can serve as a bridge between Rome and the Protestant churches.

'Wrong Men' Are Involved In Dayton Extortion Plot

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A and telephone call from a man who threatened to do $1 million damage to property insured by Miller.

The blackmailer said give him $100,000 or he would destroy five buildings.

He mentioned one building by name, an apartment house under construction, which it turned out was insured by another firm with the name of Miller.

Detective Capt. Grover O'Connor said the threatened Miller had no connection with the building.

But L. Howard Miller told police about the threat last Tuesday and they asked him to pretend to cooperate with the extortionist.

The culprit told Miller to put the $100,000 in a bowling bag and leave it in the men's room of a certain bowling establishment.

Miller told police, who stationed detectives in the place. As requested by police, Miller stuffed newspapers instead of money in the bag and locked it.

He asked several men at the bowling lanes, including a 34-year-old part-time employee there, the way to the restroom.

He walked in, left the locked bag, and departed.

The employee noticed Miller leave without the bag and became suspicious. He and a porter went to check the bag only to find they couldn't open it.

The two carried the bag out. Detective L. L. Combs, hidden in the men's room, had been watching — and other officers closed in and arrested the employee.

He volunteered to take a lie detector test. He told police he thought the man might have planted a bomb. The test cleared him and he was released Saturday.

Police said Sunday night they have no leads in the case.

Why jazz in church?

"All our talents come from God," Guertin said. "So every day and every week we must dedicate our talent back to God. These jazzmen are just as serious and just as dedicated as any man in any other profession."

One of the rituals observed on Jan. 6 is the blessing of the Greek sponge divers at Tarpon Springs, Fla., and the casting of a gold crucifix into the waters to signify the baptism of Christ.
